Presidential Criticism Irks Investigators

Maragon Attempted To Smuggle Perfume Essence Into U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The perfume company which paid for Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan's deep freezers got permission to fly John Maragon to Europe in 1945, a time when travel was difficult for a business man.

And on his return trip, said William P. Rogers, counsel for the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, Maragon tried to bring in perfume essence disguised as "four bottles of champagne."

"It looks to me on the surface," said Rogers, "as though they caught Maragon red-handed smuggling the stuff in, and there was no prosecution."

These allegations were made public late today, when senators smarting under a comment by President Truman that they had been unfair to Vaughan, released testimony they had heard Monday.

Mr. Truman had called on the public to suspend judgment on Vaughan, his military aide and a friend of 31 years standing, until the General had a chance to tell his side of the story.

The President also had said that the committee had withheld testimony favorable to Vaughan. This brought a denial from Chairman Hoey D(-NC) and a decision by his group to release the testimony.

Maragon Arranged Trip

The testimony showed that Maragon—a former Kansas City bootblack and a longtime friend of Vaughan's—and two associates made the trip on a military transport plane.

Harry Hoffman, a Milwaukee advertising man who went along, said that Maragon made the arrangements for the trip.

Hoffman said his agency handles the advertising account of the Albert J. Verley Perfume Company, Chicago. Its president is David Bennett.

Vaughan, in a statement last Saturday, said that the seven freezers had been given him by "two old friends of mine—Mr. Harry Hoffman and Mr. David Bennett."

This was in 1945, he said.

Hoffman had told him, Vaughan said, that the freezers were experimental models, and had no commercial value. Vaughan kept one of the freezers, and had the others sent to friends, including high officials. One wound up in the "Little White House" in Independence, Mo.

Other Testimony Highlights

Other highlights of the secret testimony:

1. Hoffman said that last Sunday, the day before he testified before the committee, he visited Vaughan at the White House.

In reply to a question from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), Hoffman said: "I dropped in at the White House yesterday afternoon. Was with Gen. Vaughan for about an hour. Yes, sir."

Cuban Swimmer May Try Channel Again

CALAIS, France, Aug. 18 (AP) — Water-logged and paralyzed by cold, Jose Antonio Cortinas, of Cuba, gave up halfway across today in his attempt to swim the English Channel from Calais to Dover.

Cortinas said, however, he would resume training and may try it again when weather conditions are expected to improve in a week or two.

The weather also set back the plans of Shirley May France, Somerset, Mass., who was called back to Dover from Calais by her father, J. Walter France, for more training while awaiting better weather.

Finnish Troops Called Out In Strike

Toddler, Farmer Survive Tractor Mishaps

Luck was with Allan Dierks, 19-month-old toddler of Goose Lake, Iowa (left) and Walter Bennett, 48, dairy farm employe of near Independence, Mo., as they survived tractor accidents without serious injury. Allan demonstrates his intention of sticking to toy model tractors from now on as he sits on the wheel of the two-ton machine that ran over him in the yard of the Dierks home. Allan ran behind the machine being operated by his father and the big rubber-tired wheel passed over the child's back. Pinned beneath a tractor, Bennett holds to strands of barbed wire fence as he awaits help (right). Bennett was mowing weeds when the tractor, equipped with a sickle, turned over. He was trapped 15 minutes before a tow truck crane lifted the tractor from him.

Violence Marks New Offensive By Communists

Government Plans 'Total War' On Reds

HELSINKI, Finland, Aug. 18 (AP)—Troops were called out today following the first outbreak of violence in a new Communist strike offensive. A government official said the offensive is designed to make Finland into a Communist state.

The first skirmish was in the lumbering town of Kemi, in Northern Finland, on the Gulf of Bothnia. Police and striking lumberjacks exchanged fire after up to 1,500 strikers smashed through police lines in an effort to attack workers who were reporting for duty at a timber-sorting dam.

Police, struggling to disperse the surging lumberjacks with blackjacks and tear gas bombs, fired warnings, they said, into the air. The strikers retaliated with pistol fire.

One Killed, Nine Injured

Maj. Gen. Arne Blick, commanding officer of the First Finnish Infantry Regiment stationed at Oulu 60 miles south of Kemi, said one striker was killed and nine other persons, including three policemen, were injured. The general, who took 200 soldiers in trucks to Kemi, said the situation there is "well in hand" and no more incidents are expected.

Blick said that in addition to being wounded by rubber truncheons and sabers, some of the strikers were injured by stones thrown by their own comrades.

The government yesterday declared the Kemi strike illegal.

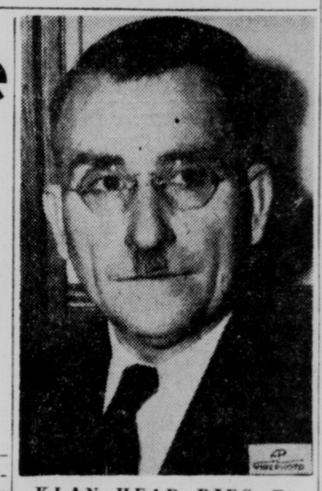

Observers expect the scene of the next phase in the tense strike situation to be Helsinki.

The outbreak at Kemi was the first violence in what the government describes as a nationwide strike offensive, the aim of which is "to create chaos in order to usurp power and establish a people's democracy (Communist government) in Finland."

Majority May Not Strike

Unto Varjonen, minister without portfolio who termed this the aim of the strike action, said the government intends to "inflict a crushing defeat on the Communists." Varjonen heads a cabinet board chosen to deal with strike threats.

A majority of Finland's trade union members are non-Communists and some 200,000 of the 300,000 unionists may defy the strike call. A walkout of 100,000 members, however, could seriously upset the nation's economic life. Virtually all unions have announced strike actions within the next eight days, and some of them struck today.

KLAN HEAD DIES—Dr. Samuel Green (above), imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, dropped dead yesterday while working in the yard of his home in Atlanta, Ga.

Imperial Wizard Of Ku Klux Klan Dies Suddenly

Heart Attack Fatal To Dr. Samuel Green

ATLANTA, Aug. 18 (AP) — Imperial Wizard Samuel Green, of the Ku Klux Klan, a thin, fanatical little man, died suddenly tonight.

The 59-year-old physician, who had complained of chest pains for a week, succumbed to a heart attack at his home just a few minutes after 6 p.m.

He died as the Klan, and much that the Klan stood for, faced a rising tide of antagonistic public opinion.

For months prior to his death, he had been the target for newspapers and public officials who laid many acts of violence in the South at the Klan's doorstep.

Claimed "Persecution"

Bitterly, Dr. Green claimed he was the subject of newspaper "persecution," and issued what amounted to a standing denial that his organization was to blame for anything.

He said time and again that any Klansman found violating the law would be banished from the "invisible empire" over which he held sway.

The sharpest indictment of Green's Klan, which he called the Association of Georgia Klans, came from Attorney General Tom Clark who labelled it subversive last April.

As a result Klansmen supposedly were barred from federal jobs and from serving in the armed forces.

Clark charged that the Klan advocated force to deny constitutional rights.

While Green said time and again that he was affiliated only with the Georgia group, he once told a group of noviates kneeling before an altar topped by a lighted cross that he was the chief of all Klansmen anywhere.

Ordered Klan To Unmask

Just 10 days ago in the wake of an outburst of floggings, cross burnings and threats by nightriders, Dr. Green ordered Klansmen to unmask.

Simultaneously with the unmasking order, which had already been put into effect by 18 southern cities and the state of Alabama anyhow, Dr. Green banished three Klaverns around Chattanooga.

The two-state area has since February 1 been the scene of 22 acts of violence, including the brutal beating of seven negroes at Hooker, Ga., and the whipping of six white church goers at Dolly Pond, Tenn.

Green lately had begun blaming all violence on "Bolshevik" groups which broke away from the Klan because, he said, the Klan insisted on upholding the Constitution.

$869,505,000 Aid Program Voted, 238-122

$580,495,000 Lopped Off Amount Sought For Western Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — The House tonight approved an $869,505,000 program of arming foreign nations after dealing the administration a blow by halving the fund sought for European countries.

The vote on final passage was 238 to 122.

The members slashed $580,495,000 from the program designed to strengthen non-Communist nations against Russian aggression.

The entire cut was made in the funds sought for Western European members of the North Atlantic security treaty.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The cut, contained in an amendment by Rep. Richards (D-SC), also limited the whole rearmament undertaking to next June 30, whereas Mr. Truman planned it for two years.

The amendment was adopted by a top-heavy 209 to 151 rollcall vote.

"Second Look" Next Spring

Administration leaders appealed in vain for the full $1,450,000,000 plan as presented by the President. It had been urged as the smallest amount needed to build up the nations in the shadow of Russia's military machine in a hurry and forestall any Soviet ideas of overrunning Europe.

But backers of the Richards amendment accepted it as a way of taking a "second look" next spring to make sure the European nations were cooperating for mutual defense setting up any more money.

In the Senate, hearings on the program continued today before the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

The Richards amendment made no changes in the $211,370,000 military aid requested for Greece and Turkey, and $27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines.

The only other major change in the bill requires that half the supplies sent abroad must be shipped in United States vessels and at prevailing shipping rates. It was adopted by voice vote.

Teller Vote Confirmed

The vote on the fund slashing Richards amendment went this way: For, 71 Democrats, 137 Republicans, one American-Laborite. Against, 143 Democrats, eight Republicans.

The Richards amendment first was adopted by a teller vote 173 to 137 in which members are counted anonymously. It was confirmed later by the roll call vote.

After the vote to chop the program, the possibility remained that the House might still approve almost as much as President Truman asked by adding $505,150,000 in contract authority. But this forlorn hope proved fruitless.

The House refused to add the contract authority by standing vote of 123 to 73. It was proposed in an

Communists May Proclaim China Regime Oct. 10

CANTON, China, Aug. 18 (AP) — Political prophets in this Red-threatened Nationalist capital predicted tonight that the Communists would formally proclaim a government of China October 10 and would get Russian recognition the same day.

(Unknown to Canton, supporting evidence for this forecast came independently from Communist China.)

The war news was comparatively slack, but a Nationalist army spokesman said the Reds were stalled near Tayu, 170 miles northeast of Canton. Other official reports, however, said the Communists were regrouping for a big drive due south down the railway, where they are about 290 miles from Canton.

The Nationalists acknowledged loss of the Miao Islands, whence they had blockaded the northern Red port of Tientsin. They claimed repulse of a Red amphibious attack on the Chushan Island, a similar blockade base 100 miles south of Shanghai.

If the Reds can get ready in time, October 10 is the logical date to proclaim a government. Known to every Chinese coolie as "double tenth" — the tenth day of the tenth month — it is China's independence day, anniversary of the 1911 revolution that overthrew the Manchus.

Some quarters believe that when the Reds proclaim a regime they will order withdrawal of all diplomatic personnel of countries which do not recognize it.

U. S. Embassy Staff Moved

CANTON Friday, Aug. 19 (AP) — The United States Embassy announced today it was moving its staff to Hong Kong, the British crown colony.

The embassy officers will commute daily to Canton, the refugee capital of Nationalist China, as long as the situation permits.

Senate Confirms Tom Clark As Supreme Court Justice

McGrath Is Approved As Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Senate confirmed Tom Clark of Texas today as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The vote was 73 to 8. Republicans cast all eight "nay" votes.

The Senate then shouted its approval of Sen. J. Howard McGrath (D-RI) to succeed Clark as attorney general. McGrath is chairman of the Democratic National Committee but has announced that he will resign that position before he takes office as head of the Justice Department.

Clark's appointment drew bitter criticism from Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), who called the nomination "transparently political," and accused the 49-year-old official of "gross mismanagement" in the Gerhart Eisler deportation case.

Clark's friends stood by him as a good man who should make a fine justice.

The eight Republican senators who voted against Clark were Ferguson and his Michigan colleague, Sen. Vandenberg; Sens. Donnell and Kem of Missouri, Flanders of Vermont, Taft of Ohio, Watkins of Utah and Williams of Delaware.

Ferguson led the attack on Clark in the three and a half hours of debate which preceded the vote. He made no effort to hide his displeasure that Clark was not called before the Senate Judiciary Committee for questioning.

Had Clark been called, Ferguson said, he would have liked to have questioned him not only about the Eisler case but about his handling of wiretapping, anti-trust prosecutions, "gangster paroles," and a 1946 Kansas City vote fraud case.

Eisler, a high-up Communist, was under sentence for passport fraud and contempt of Congress when he jumped bail last spring and skipped the country as a stowaway on the Polish ship Batory. The United States made a futile effort to reclaim him, but he wound up in the Soviet zone of Eastern Germany.

Negro Gunman, Fleeing Burning Home, Shot Down

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP) — Police set fire to a besieged negro's home tonight and mowed him down with gunfire when he fled the burning building.

Ernest Craig, 28, had been trapped in the building three hours when police tossed in a magnesium flare.

The entire first floor of the building was set afire. Police attempted to enter the burning structure but were forced back by fire from Craig's gun.

Lt. John Murphy said Craig dashed into the house, his home, after he had wounded a child while shooting wild at a neighbor.

Final Tribute Is Paid To Margaret Mitchell

ATLANTA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Margaret Mitchell was burried today on a hill near graves of Confederate soldiers with the skyline of Atlanta in the distance.

En route to Oakland Cemetery the hearse carried the body of the author of "Gone With The Wind" across Peachtree Street, just a few blocks from the spot where she was struck by a speeding automobile last Thursday.

People along the sidewalks paused, gazed, and stood in a token of last salute. Some women on front porches cried openly.

Many persons stood in the street outside the funeral chapel during the brief Episcopal rites. Around 300 persons were admitted inside.

Scientist Group Assails Truman's "Loyalty Order"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The world's largest general organization of scientists today assailed President Truman's "loyalty order" affecting federal employes as "basically objectionable."

The same organization, the American Association for the Advancement of Science also strongly criticized the "security clearance" programs of the National Military Establishment and the Atomic Energy Commission as they affect scientists.

In a report publisher in the association's weekly journal "Science", the AAAS noted that Mr. Truman's loyalty order provides that no person shall be employed in a federal post "if he is believed to be disloyal" to the United States government.

"No one doubts the importance of faithful discharge of duty by public officials," the report said. "No one questions the propriety of the government's demanding that its employes be loyal to their jobs and to the democratic institutions they serve.

"The loyalty order is, however, basically objectionable because it seeks to determine the employe's loyalty by inquiring into his supposed thoughts and attitudes, which are established in large part by imputing to him the beliefs of his associates."

"If the loyalty order is to be retained," the statement said, "A drastic revision is essential. Instead of focusing on an employe's associations, it should focus on his behavior in overt acts. Legislation already on the statute books amply protects the federal service against retention of employes who advocate overthrow of the government."

Lonely Hearts Pair Convicted

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—A 200-pound divorcee and her balding lover, who operated a lonely hearts romance-by-mail racket, were convicted today of murdering a lonesome widow snared by promise of marriage.

Haggard after a night's wait while the jury deliberated, the defendants, Mrs. Martha Beck, 29, and Raymond Fernandez, 34, heard the first degree murder verdict without outward show of emotion.

The verdict carries a mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair.

The Bronx courtroom was the end of a long trail for the defendants—whose activities took them from New York to Michigan and back again, and found them charged with three killings.

They were tried here for the slaying last January 4 at Valley Stream, N. Y., of Mrs. Janet J. Fay, 66, Albany, N. Y. She was mulcted of nearly $6,000 in savings on Fernandez' promise to marry her.

Power Plant Explosion Results In One Death

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—An explosion at the Buzzard's Point plant of the Potomac Electric Power Company resulted in the death of one employe and serious injury to another today.

The explosion was said to have occured at a float control valve connected to the steam heating system.

The fatally injured man was Richard D. White, 32, Washington.

West Rejects Soviet Proposal On Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—The western commandants heatedly rejected tonight a Soviet proposal to revive —with Soviet veto rights—the old Berlin four-power kommandatura which the Russians themselves smashed more than a year ago.

Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, retiring United States commandant, said he had a "hard exchange of words" with Soviet Commandant Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov.

Howley accused the Russians of "raping the city—tearing it apart and attempting to starve its people —and then talking about reviving so-called "normalization" through the discredited veto instead of majority rule.

87 Campers Escape Debris As Planes Collide Overhead

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP) — Eighty-seven summer campers — 40 of them children — scrambled to safety today as two fighter planes collided in murky skies and showered metal wreckage and gasoline on the camp area below.

Two Air Force officers in one plane lost their lives. The pair in the other twin-engined F82 Mustang fighter escaped death by parachuting.

None of the campers was hit.

Children at the Episcopal Church camp near Long Island's eastern tip ducked under a table to escape debris that plunked into the water where they had been swimming.

Wreckage hit four chairs about five minutes after adult campers had vacated them and gone inside a building.

The propellor of one plane, an eyewitness said, knifed into the ground like a spear.

The planes, on a radar navigation training flight, were based at Mitchel Field. Base officials said cause of the collision had not been determined.

12-Year-Old Boy Lives With Pellet In Brain

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 18 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Toby Warner, Culver, Ind., is in Memorial Hospital here with an airgun pellet in his brain, but doctors say he is in good condition.

At present, no operation is planned to remove the pellet. X-rays show it is lodged near the rear of the brain.

The boy told his father, Howard Warner, that his gun discharged when he dropped it Tuesday. The shot struck him in the forehead and almost passed through his head.

Rebellious Demos May Be Barred From Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — A pledge of future party loyalty may be asked of any southern states righters who show up to vote on the choice of a new Democratic national chairman.

This formula for dealing with committee members who joined in the civil rights rebellion last year was laid down by a high Democratic official today as President Truman implied that the decision not to invite some southern members has his full backing.

The National Committee meets next Wednesday for the scheduled election of William M. Boyle, Jr., now a $30,000-a-year executive director, to succeed Sen. J. Howard McGrath, of Rhode Island, as chairman.

McGrath, unanimously confirmed by the Senate today to succeed Attorney General Tom C. Clark, now draws no committee pay.

In his call for the committee meeting, McGrath said he hadn't invited members of the National Committee who strayed off the reservation last fall in support of the Thurmond-Wright states' rights ticket.

When reporters asked the President about this at his regular news conference, the President replied that the committee is in control of its own membership.

With a significant look at newsmen, Mr. Truman said the committee is made up of Democrats.

Political Delay Over Indonesia Irks Dutch Army

By KENNETH LIKES

BATAVIA, Aug. 18 (AP) — If a political settlement and peace come to Indonesia and the Dutch army pulls out, few in Batavia will be happier than the Dutch soldiers.

Holland's drawn-out political maneuvers are beyond him. His understanding is simply that he has been maneuvered into a position he does not like.

The first Dutch troops to set foot in Indonesia after the Japanese collapse in 1945 were a few battalions of war volunteers made up partly of the underground army that opposed the Germans in Holland during the war. They arrived as a token occupation force in 1946 when the British army still was in charge and the self-proclaimed Republic of Indonesia controlled all Java and Sumatra except small beachhead areas around a few important cities.

Morale Booster

In November of the same year, Holland sent its British-trained "7 December" Division, named after a historic speech of Queen Wilhelmina on December 7, 1942, in which she promised Indonesia independence after the victory of Allied forces.

Both the war volunteers and "7 December" men were assured a maximum of two years' tropical duty. An unstable political situation, and the second military action against the republic, resulted in Holland keeping its Far Eastern forces at full strength — roughly 75,000 men.

Regular repatriation and replacement schemes were stopped suddenly last November. Homebound veterans were summoned back to the field from ships they had just boarded. Morale fell rapidly.

To many soldiers, tired of sitting it out in the Indies while politicians bickered, the military action against the republic a few weeks later was a morale booster.

Dutch tanks, heavy mobile guns and planes swept out to overcome the republic in a few days. As the barefoot Republican army vanished before the formidable forces, actual battles and Dutch casualties were few.

Then the real fight began. Falling back on a strategy of hit-and-run attacks from inaccessible hideouts, the guerrilla forces of the republic made it tough for the Dutch occupation army.

Morale Slides Again

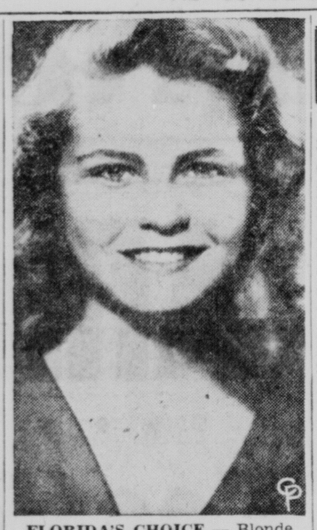

Month after month, soldiers sat behind their sandbags and barbed wire, victims of the scorching tropical heat of day and targets for well armed guerrillas at night. Morale slid again.

Official policy of the Dutch when they proceeded to wipe out the republic last December was: The republic no longer exists.

Later the policy changed, and finally the republic was recognized by being reestablished June 30 in its capital city, Jogjakarta. Its restoration was a bitter pill for the military.

To many soldiers, it didn't make sense. They were bitter that after losing nearly 100 men in holding Jogjakarta for six months they suddenly moved out and let their enemies, the guerrillas, take over.

Now the outlook for the Dutch soldier has brightened somewhat as political negotiations have continued to show progress. But, generally, he wants to go home.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

One of America's great newspapermer wrote a special story for Christmas morning a few years ago. He poured his heart into the copy, finished it in the happy glow of a job well done, and phoned his managing editor "Say, I'm really proud of this piece. It's hokum but it's the best thing I've done in a year." "Great," said the M. E. "There's no news to speak of coming through. I'll give you the left-hand column of the front page. Get the copy down here fast."

The writer gave his piece to a trusted messenger, trimmed the tree for his kids, and went to bed. At 4 a. m. the managing editor phoned him demanding frantically, "Where's that feature? I can't hold the presses 10 minutes more."

Search for the messenger was fruitless. He didn't turn up, in fact, until late Dec. 26. "Oh, that story you gave me the other night," he recalled when the writer started shouting at him. "It sure was good. I started reading it on the way downtown, and it made me cry so, I took it home and read it to my wife for a Christmas present."

Kremlin Worries Make Togliatti Prisoner At Home

ROME, Aug. 18 (AP) —Italian Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti has become a long-distance prisoner of the Kremlin.

Since the attempt on his life a year ago, the mild-mannered, studious Togliatti is no longer seen at his familiar haunts.

Nattily-dressed boss of the world's second largest communist party, he used to love to browse in bookstores, or drop out of parliament for a dish of ice cream at a sidewalk cafe, or eat alone in a small restaurant.

He was going for ice cream when a Sicilian student pumped four bullets into him July 14, 1948.

Marshal Joseph Stalin, who trained Togliatti in Moscow to become the leader of Italy's 2,000,000 Communists, sent a blunt telegram to Italian Communist Party headquarters, deploring the fact that they had shown themselves unable to protect their leader.

When Togliatti recovered, the party gave him plenty of protection —and took away his once-loved liberty.

Vittorio Gorresio, one of Italy's foremost Rome correspondents, describes the protective measures in a new book about the communists, "I Carissimi Nemici" (Our Dearest Enemies).

Togliatti now always moves by automobile accompanied by bodyguards. When he goes to Parliament one of the "bodyguards" invariably is Communist Deputy Walter Audisio, better known as "Colonel Valeric," the executioner of Benito Mussolini.

Gorresio reports that the party has placed Togliatti under the kind of discipline usually reserved for a king. His daily activities are carefully mapped out every morning in Via Botteghe Oscure (Street of the Dark Shops), where the communists have their headquarters.

In the first months after he recovered, a "council of doctors" met twice a week to examine his health. He was forbidden to get up before 9 a. m., was made to go to bed early and work no more than three or four hours a day.

ARRESTED — Indicted on a swindling charge, "Rabbi" Solomon Eichenstein is shown as he gave himself up to New York police. He is charged with fleecing Israeli sympathizers out of some $90,000 in alleged currency deals. The self-styled rabbi's attorney said Eichenstein gained nothing for himself from his international transactions with Israeli pounds.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Attention all infants!

If you have any ambition, come to Hollywood. You have to work only 30 seconds at a time and you can be home in your crib by four in the afternoon!

Not only that, if you are under 30 days of age, you get a guarantee of $10,000 a week.

Yes, sir, those are the studio rules regarding infant actors in Hollywood. When Butch Jenkins heard about it, he got sore. He turned to his mother and said: "I appreciate your concern for my babyhood, but for the last eight years we've been losing money."

Just picture a kid 27 days old making $10,000 a week. By the time he celebrates his first birthday he is washed up in show business, but he has a controlling interest in Fort Knox.

When my brother was an infant, he worked for a movie studio for 30 days ... and he never forgot it. In fact, he has been doing 30 days ever since.

Of course, with the Dionne Quintuplets it was a different story and the studio wasn't paying them at the terrific salary rate. It got them wholesale.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(By International News Service)

Five years ago I said the key to European future was the French army. Now Omar Bradley corroborates that preamble with epauleted authority and brass-bound experience.

• — • —

The reason it was sidetracked was every two in a corporal's squad was a Commie. Arming the French would have been like feeding a malaria patient quinine diluted in swamp water.

Omar must be certain that little matter has been cleared out like an ice-box in a boarding house.

Otherwise, we would be hatching out another one of those Frankenstein eggs that wreck the incubator. It's happened before in other languages.

Conservative Win In Election In Germany

The nationalistic color of the German election campaign — which many Germans privately called "mere electioneering"—sent an apprehensive shudder through the Western world, but there should be satisfaction with the main results of last Sunday's election. The fact of greatest importance is that the Communists have been beaten once more in a free election, as they were previously in France, Italy and West Berlin. Their share of the West German popular vote dropped from 10 to six per cent, smaller even than the percentage of the rightist German Party, which appealed to former Nazis and won only 17 seats in a parliament of 402.

Leading in the popular vote were the Christian Democrats, who piled up huge majorities in the Catholic states of Bavaria, Baden and the Rhineland. They favor a free enterprise system patterned after the United States—or what they take to be the current American pattern. Definitely in second place were the Social Democrats (Socialists) who want to nationalize big industries in the British Laborite manner. The first free German government since before Hitler will be a coalition of the center and right-wing parties.

The net result should improve Germany's chances of admission to the new Council of Europe, which would be a step toward return to the family of nations. Winston Churchill has been working hard toward that end at Strasbourg, against the opposition of Foreign Secretary Bevin. Presumably, Bevin's opposition will not lessen, now that German Socialism has been beaten at the polls. The balance of power on the issue of German membership will be held by France.

The Paris government is delighted that Western Germany has rejected Communism, and many wise Frenchmen believe that German participation in any kind of European federation would help to avert a return of rampant nationalism across the Rhine. The election may encourage that belief.

The most amazing development of modern times is that bureaucratic theorists have been able to keep people happy while taking 40 per cent of their incomes.

Two Aquatic Species Of Young Women

Merely looking on at the sudden Battle about Bathing Beauties, we remark that not one but two aquatic species of young women are in the public eye right now. One set swim, the others are Bathing Beauties who may or (like the girl in the Hickory Limb song) may not go near the water. The swimmers are powerfully built, usually tall with formidable shoulders and notable thighs. You might call them Sea Horses, but for the fact that the name is preempted by a tiny fish no taller than your thumb. These women are better swimmers than most men because they are built that way—as witness Gertrude Ederle and Shirley May France.

Perhaps only one girl qualifies in both categories. That, of course, is Eleanor Holm, a former champion swimmer at the short distances and yet a quite personable proposition. Some years ago we saw her at the New York Worlds Fair Aquacade. During the past few years we also have seen a representative turnout of Cumberland and Allegany county Bathing Beauties. The girls posed on runways and never went near the water.

Beginning at Atlantic City about a generation ago as a means of keeping up attendance there in the last weeks of Summer, these contests have become country-wide, and now every state and city, every industry and every crop must have its Miss This or That. The current Life magazine records the story of one: "In New York a model who in seven short weeks rose from 'Miss Make-Up of 1949' 'Miss Swim of Rye Beach' to 'Miss Wrap Around' to 'Miss New York City' quit her manager because he hadn't yet made her 'Miss America.'" While most of the winners marry soon after, some become models, or try for the stage or screen—one at least, Dorothy Lamour of New Orleans, with acclaim.

No doubt socialized medicine in England does provide aspirin for government officials who seem to be suffering from the headaches.

Has Collective Bargaining Been Repealed By Truman?

"Collective bargaining has been repealed by the President. And if this union strategy works this time, collective bargaining will never come back. The precedent here attempted would commit us to boards and Government wage-fixing forever." These grave words come from a responsible source, President Randall of the Inland Steel Company, addressing in New York the so-called fact-finding board in the steel dispute.

He had already explained that the wage demand which the board was considering "was never brought to our bargaining table. We hear of it first here." He had about 15 minutes to present his case to a board made up of strangers who know nothing about his plant or his men. Yet the board would, if its "recommendations" were forced upon the management, be fixing wages.

The President dismissed a question at his last press conference with the statement that such fact-finding boards had been appointed in industrial disputes for 15 years or more. What he did not comment on was the suspicion that the union and the White House between them had fixed up a plan to avoid collective bargaining and bring about the creation of a presidentially-appointed board which, under the guise of "recommendations," would practically determine wages in any dispute.

The Taft-Hartley labor act, which provides for collective bargaining, happens to be the law of the land. Harry Truman hates it, but it is the law. If he seeks to sidestep and go around it by the personal choice of three "fact-finders," he is attempting a usurption, and he is setting foot on a path of unchartered mischief.

Those stationed in the Arctic eat boiled reindeer moss. How they must sigh for a mess of good old spinach.

Some men marry to have someone to tell their troubles to, and soon have plenty to talk about.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Mending The Heart

HEART surgery is strictly an American invention. It sounds and is daring but surgeons do not necessarily deserve all the credit. Were it not for improvements in anethesia and the basic work in thoracic (chest) operations, procedures of this type might not be feasible. We must also thank man's best friend, the dog, upon whom technics were perfected before being tried on human beings.

Now serious lacerations, contusions, and penetrating wounds of the heart can be repaired. When such mishaps occurred in the past, the physician looked grim and could offer no more than what fate had in store. At the present time, fatal bleeding can be prevented through surgical repairs. Not all injuries fall into this category as the heart tolerates moderate blows and even small puncture wounds such as result from an ice pick or hatpin. Foreign bodies that lodge in the structure occasionally can be left in place but the modern surgeon is no longer willing to take the chance. During World War II, Dr. D. E. Harken removed missiles from the cardiac organs of 134 individuals and all lived to tell the tale. In 13, the metal pieces had penetrated the wall and were found in the various chambers of the pumping apparatus.

Mending scarred and leaky valves is a more difficult procedure but it has been done, in some instances successfully. Experiments along this line were reported 25 years ago and since then many other attempts have been made to perfect the operation but as yet it must be considered in the investigative stage. Perhaps another 25 years will pass before it can be recommended for all individuals with valvular defects.

By contrast, surgery on blue babies is a standard procedure. Hundreds of little ones have been made more comfortable and are no longer total invalids. In other cases, abnormalities exist in the large blood vessels immediately adjacent to the heart. To understand one of these—patent ductus arteriosus—we must go back to the embryonic stage when the unborn child obtained its oxygen from the mother rather than through its lungs. To make this possible, nature shunted the blood from one artery to the other in order to by-pass the respiratory apparatus. This shunt normally closes but occasionally remains open after birth even though the lungs are expanded fully. Seven out of 10 such victims rarely lived to the age of 40. The "bridge" can now be closed surgically, with a mortality of less than five per cent.

In another anomaly, the upper part of the aorta is constricted (coarctation), allowing blood to flow freely into the head and upper extremities but not into the remainder of the body. This too is a serious disorder for which no remedy was available in the past. Nowadays, the cardiovascular surgeon cuts off the narrowed segment and sews the two ends together as though he were removing an irreparable defect in a garden hose. This sounds easy until it is realized that the aorta is our largest artery, with a diameter almost as great as a half-dollar.

Surgery also is employed on those suffering from angina pectoris resulting from blockage of the coronary artery circulation. Several methods have been used and some are so ingenious that they hardly seem possible. These also remain in the realm of research and are rarely recommended except in occasional cases.

TOMORROW: Prompt care needed in glaucoma (increased tension in the eyeballs).

COATING THE STOMACH

S. K. writes: Will mineral oil put a lining on one stomach?

Reply

I doubt it, as there is too much acid in the stomach. But the substance can coat the intestine if taken in sufficient amounts.

• — • — •

POLIO FROM FLIES

S. M. writes: If you eat food or use dishes on which a fly has lighted, can you develop polio?

Reply

The possibility exists, if the fly is infected, and the individual is susceptible. To my knowledge, however, there are no cases in which this has been proved beyond doubt.

• — • — •

INTESTINAL POUCHES

B. J. writes: What is meant by "multiple diverticula of the colon?"

Reply

After the age of 50, many individuals develop tiny outpocketings in the wall of the bowel. The lesions seldom produce discomfort unless they become infected.

• — • — •

FLAT FEET

Mrs. S. writes: Is it possible for a 10 month old baby to have flat feet?

Yes, because the arches do not develop until the tot starts to walk. In a few instances, however, the defect is congential and calls for treatment.

• — • — •

HISTAMINE

J. A. writes: What causes histamine in the body?

Reply

This substance is always present in certain cells of the body but can be liberated by injury or exposure to something to which the individual is sensitive.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Prestige In Middle East Predominant; American Ambassador Wiley's Unobtrusive Gift Of Cigarettes Proves A Point; Many Oppose AMVETS-AVC Merger

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—A high U. S. official just returned from a tour of the Middle East reports one outstanding impression.

It is this:

That, amid the welter of assassination, intrigue and autocratic rule in this ancient cockpit, the prestige and power of the United States stands out like a gleaming beacon.

The official related this episode to prove his point:

Following the attempted slaying some months ago of the Shah of Iran, he imposed iron-handed martial rule. The Iranian press particularly felt the weight of the Shah's fury. Seventeen liberal, non-Communist newspapers were suppressed and their editors thrown into jail. He also ordered them tried on charges of subversive activities.

To support these charges, articles dating back as far as 20 years were brought into court against the editors.

Despite these extreme measures, only six were convicted.

U. S. Ambassador in Iran is John Wiley. An able, tough-minded career man, he has been an outstanding success in his delicate and arduous post. A firm believer in democracy and freedom of the press, Wiley, privately, was shocked by the autocratic persecution of the editors. But because it was a strictly internal affair, he meticulously kept hands off until after the six editors were sentenced.

Several days later, Wiley sent each of them a small package. It consisted of one pack of American cigarettes — with Wiley's personal card.

Nothing was written on the card. Also, there was nothing secret about Wiley's action. His chauffeur delivered the packages to the prison and turned them over to the warden to give to the editors. That was all there was to it.

The Shah, of course, was immediately informed. Also, he got the point.

The following day, the editors were pardoned.

Note—Because of Wiley's penetrating and forthright reports to the State Department, the Iranian ambassador in Washington is very hostile toward him. The Iranian has repeatedly tried to undermine Wiley.

No Merger

Behind-the-scenes, the widely publicized merger between Amvets and AVC has gotten nowhere. Reason is strong rank-and-file opposition in both veteran organizations. At the bottom of this are two factors:

Amvet membership is much more conservative than AVC, and a confidential memorandum sent out by AVC Commander Harold A. Keats. In this document, he stresses the financial benefits that will accrue to Amvets by absorbing the 35,000 AVC dues-paying members.

AVC officials are aware that Amvet's headquarters is hard up and that its national officers draw $35,000 a year in salaries and expenses.

No Loss

A British correspondent telephoned Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebr., Republican floor leader, for an interview on the forthcoming international monetary conference.

"All I can say," remarked Wherry, "is that Sir Stafford Cripps is obviously coming here to promote a new loan. He wouldn't be interrupting his rest cure in Switzerland for any other reason."

The British newsman protested this view.

"Well," observed Wherry, "if he's coming over to lend us some money, I'll be glad to see him."

"Can I quote you on that?"

"Certainly," replied Wherry. Then, turning to a friend, he added, "I was safe in letting him quote me. After all, I can't lose any votes in England."

Deadlock

Illustrative of the snafued state of Congressional business is an unpublicized but long-standing deadlock between the House and Senate over the Army civil functions bill.

This stalemate has been going on since June 1, with no sign of a break in sight.

Cause of the deadlock is a $590,000,000 rivers and harbors rider that the Senate wrote into the measure. This huge local gravy grab was not included in the President's budget. The fund would be spent by the Army engineers, which have one of the most potent undercover lobbies in Washington.

The House conferees, led by Representative Clarence Cannon, (D-Mo), have adamantly refused to budge on the issue. Cannon has served notice he will block the bill as long as it contains the half-billion-dollar rider.

Militant backers of the rider are Sens. John McClellan (D-Ark), Pat McCarran (D-Nev), and Chan Gurney (R-SD). McCellan is head of the Rivers & Harbors Congress, an Army engineers lobby, and all three of the Senators are loud "economy" talkers. But on this gravy grab, they are singing a different tune.

To date, it has made no impression on hard-boiled Cannon.

Shorts

The Navy is concerned about the waistline of its officers. To help them keep it down, the Navy has issued a pamphlet titled "Feel Alive." . . . The White House is being barraged with union complaints charging bias on the part of Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board . . . Sen. Frank P. Graham (D-NC), has made a big impression by his discussions of ethics, religion and philosophy at the breakfast-prayer meetings held every Wednesday morning by a group of senators.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The President And The General

WELL, Harry, I guess you're it," said Senator Truman. "Senator, I've got just three bucks left in the bank," replied Harry Vaughan, "but if you say I'm it, I guess I'm it."

This slice of dialogue (said to be verbatim — at least it sounds like the two men) took place during the climactic moment in the personal relationship between President Harry Truman and Major General Harry Vaughan. To understand this relationship is to understand something, not only about President Truman and his unhappy military aide, but about the whole flavor of this Administration.

The dialogue took place in 1940, when Truman, then a Senator, was making a bid for another Senate term. As on a later occasion, no one gave Truman a ghost of a chance. The Pendergast investigation had cast no reflections whatsoever on Truman's personal integrity, but as an organization man, Truman was inevitably tarred with the Pendergast brush.

Moreover one of his opponents for the Missouri Democratic nomination was U. S. District Attorney Maurice Milligan, the man who had put Truman's old friend, Tom Pendergast, in jail. Milligan was popular in Missouri, and so was Truman's other opponent, Governor Lloyd C. Stark, who had a strong organization.

With such opposition to buck, it was unanimously agreed that Truman would run a bad third. Thus, inevitably to work for Truman seemed a waste of time, and to contribute to his campaign a waste of money. Truman himself was flat broke — he has never had any personal fortune. He did not even have the funds to buy stamps and stationary. He asked half a dozen rich friends to head his finance committee, and with one excuse or another they all turned him down.

It was then that Truman, in this crisis in his career, turned in desperation to Harry Vaughan, his old National Guard and American Legion pal, and the dialogue quoted above took place. The two men had known each other since the First World War. But until 1940 the friendship had been casual, the friendship of the joke and the backslap and the occasional highball. Vaughan was the kind of half-friend, half-hanger-on most politicians collect in their retinue.

Vaughan Raised Needed Fund

Vaughan went to work with busy, backslapping energy. Soon he had wrangled a $5,000 loan from a rich Democrat (the loan has since been repaid in full). This, and other money Vaughan collected, enabled Truman to put on a real fighting campaign. Milligan and Stark killed each other off in the race, and Truman squeaked by to win the nomination. The election was easy, and the road which eventually led to the White House lay open.

The story since this turning point in the lives of the two men is well known. Vaughan became, no longer a mere casual back-slapping pal, but one of the Truman circle (as did James K. Vandaman, who also stood by Truman in the dark days of 1940). Truman made Vaughan his secretary in the Senate, and Vaughan has had his appointed place on Truman's coattails ever since. Vaughan undoubtedly has a sort of canine loyalty for his benefactor, and Truman is said to have an irritable affection for Vaughan, something like a father with a disappointing son.

All this would be a rather affecting story of loyalty given and loyalty returned, were it not for two facts; the fact that Vaughan is the kind of man he is, and the fact that Truman is now President of the United States. Vaughan made a perfectly adequate Senator's secretary. A Senator's secretary's job generally consists largely of doing, in the Senator's name, little favors for his constituents — a telephone call to the right men here, an introduction there, a little pressure conveniently applied in the right place.

A genial dunderhead, with a big name to use as a stick to beat the bureaucrats, can do this sort of thing. And this is very much the sort of thing, which, on the larger scale his position has permitted, General Vaughan has apparently been doing. Comparisons between the present mess and the Teapot Dome scandal are wholly misleading there is no sort of evidence of personal corruption. Rather there has been the sort of petty fixing and finagling which a Senator's secretary, who was a busybody with a liking for intrigue, might undertake to do on his own.

Downright Ugly Smell

The trouble is that Harry is no longer a Senator. Petty fixing is only a trifle squalid when it originates on Capitol Hill. But when it bears a White House stamp it has a downright ugly smell, even though it may be motivated by mere inflated ego, even though the President may know nothing about it.

Moreover, the trouble goes deeper than this. These are not times when dunderheads, however loyal, however genial, can be tolerated near the sources of power. Those who know him affirm that Truman would never for a moment tolerate the slightest tinge of personal corruption in those near him. It is past time for the President to adopt the same intolerant attitude to what may seem to him mere harmless stupidity. For stupidity in the White House can be in the end at least dangerous as corruption. And more and more since the election this Administration is taking its flavor from men, however loyal, however genial, with second-rate brains.

"Equal Justice Under Law" Seen Growing Bit Obsolete

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — It's strange how little interest either President Truman or the Democratic Administration has taken in the fact that a large labor union is today controlling production in the coal industry.

The department of Justice hasn't made a move to invoke the anti-trust laws even though the Supreme Court of the United States has never passed directly on the issues raised in the three-day-week in the coal industry imposed by the United Mine Workers Union.

It remained for Senator Willis Robertson of Virginia, Democrat and one of the non-radical group in the Senate, to institute an inquiry in the Senate Banking and Currency committee on various phases of the monopoly operating in the coal mines.

Mr. Robertson has called many witnesses and the evidence is indisputable—there is an actual control of production and the work week by a single labor union.

The Administration did not hesitate to proceed with much less statutory power than it has in the anti-trust laws today when it battled against the work stoppage which occurred in the coal mines a couple years ago. Some rather ambiguous statutes then had to be called into use for that proceeding.

Laws Permit Action

Today, however, the anti-trust laws are broad enough to enter a proceeding. These laws say that monopoly and restraint of trade cannot be exercised by any person in Interstate Commerce. The court interpretations that, where a labor dispute exists, labor unions are immune from prosecution under anti-trust laws have been offered as an excuse for not taking action. But the fact is that the anti-trust decisions of the courts regarding labor unions relate primarily to interruptions growing out of strikes. No strike is in progress in the coal fields today An open statement has been made of an intent "to stabilize" working conditions in the coal business.

Senator Robertson says:

"Granting that a union has the legal right to bargain nationally in regard to wages and the hours during which a particular employee may work, we do not believe it has ever intended that the right should carry with it the power to restrict production and therefore commerce, to limit the days or hours during which a particular mining operation may work or in any way to dictate the amount of time during which an owner may have use of the various mining facilities and tools in which he may have invested."

Thurman Arnold, former assistant attorney general under the New Deal, told the senate committee:

"I think that wages and hours is a legitimate union activity, anything that concerns wages and hours. When, however, this wages and hours business is used as a pretext to restrict production, and achieve control over management and production, it then falls, or should fall, upon the prohibitions of the Sherman Act as an illegitimate activity of labor."

Mr. Arnold, when in the Department of Justice, prosecuted labor unions guilty of monopoly but he never was presented with as clear a case as exists today in the coal industry and hence he didn't win in the courts. There is nothing to prevent the Department of Justice from trying again — unless it is afraid of antagonizing labor-union votes controlled by labor-union bosses.

Many Issues Being Raised

Industry-wide bargaining is already raising many issues. In New York, where a fact-finding board appointed by President Truman is inquiring into the dispute in the steel industry, it turns out that the national steelworkers union has the economic power to force a level of wages which will be uniformly applied to large and small businesses alike and thus bankrupt the smaller steel companies which are now operating in the red. This is another form of economic monopoly utilized by national labor unions.

Congress has legislated on many abstract questions affecting the public interest and welfare. The House Judiciary committee, moreover, is spending a lot of time inquiring into theoretical monopoly, but it hasn't spent very much time on labor-union monopolies. Evidently "equal justice under law" is growing a bit obsolete hereabouts.

The McCullough Case

WHENEVER a Communist or a fellow-traveller, or just a plain liberal gets into trouble, all sorts of committees, organizations funds are established to protect them. Thousands of dollars are collected, to which, only to often, soft-headed capitalists, Republicans and Democrats, their wives and daughters, contribute on some mistaken notion that if enough noise is made, an injustice has been done.

But when a fine American woman stands up, at great risk, to defend her country, to fight for our way of life, to denounce those who love our enemy, she is permitted to take the full brunt of the battle alone, to suffer the indignity of having her home and her savings impounded, to await the outcome of an expensive trial which may last for years. That is exactly what has happened to Mrs. Hester McCullough of Greenwich, Connecticut.

She had subscribed to the Greenwich Community Concert Association and, after paying her fees, discovered that Larry Adler, the harmonica player, and Paul Draper, the dancer, had been put on the program. She objected because of their affiliations with Communist-front organizations.

Mrs. McCulough wrote a letter setting forth her views. The letter was published in "The Greenwich Times." The Greenwich Community Concert Association thereupon accepted her "resignation" which had never been profferer by her. She asked for a hearing which was not granted. However, she gave the Association a list of nine Communist-front organizations, cited by the Attorney General of the United States, the House Committee on un-American Activities, and the Tenney report to the California legislature, with which Adler and Draper were associated.

Although Mrs. McCullough was not permitted to attend a meeting at which she might defend her position, Adler and Draper, accompanied by their lawyers and by Ward French and Frederick Schang of the Columbia Artists' Bureau were present. Adler and Draper admitted membership in these organizations, and others of a similar nature, but denied that they were Communists or ever had been; they insisted that they are loyal Americans.

It is impossible to use precise measurements in matters of this sort: All fellow-travellers deny that they are Communists and most of them are only sympathetic. Also all Communists, as is being made clear in Judge Medina's court daily, insist that they are patriotic Americans. Also many innocent persons are involved in accusations of Communist affiliation because they choose to hook up with communist-front organizations.

No one can know for sure if a person is a Communist unless he chooses to expose the relationship himself. Therefore, it is possible only to use certain yardsticks to make up one's mind about them. These yardsticks are:

1. Membership in organizations declared to be subversive by the attorney general of the United States, a function of his office thus far upheld by the courts:

2. Persistent appearance of that person's name in organizations as a member, sponsor, speaker, petitioner, as published by the House Committee on un-American Activities. It is usually held that six such citations remove innocence from a person's attitude;

3. Constant shifting of view and activities in such a manner as always to conform with the Stalinist line as stipulated by the "Daily Worker," and other Communist media. Conformity to Communist orthodoxy indicates, if not membership in the party, sympthy with it.

Mrs. McCullough was guided by these yardsticks and got herself in a $100,000 libel suit. Under Connecticut law everything she owned, her bank account and her home could be and was attached. Adler and Draper retained, as their lawyer, Kenneth Bradley, former Republican National Committeeman, and partner of Raymond Baldwin, who had been governor and United States Senator.

Mrs. McCullough's funds having been attached, she has difficulty raising money to fight the case. So far, her friends contributed about $3,000 which is obviously not enough.

This is an American fight. This woman said that she objected that her fees should be used to pay the expenses of artists who belonged to organizations which the Attorney General designated subversive. For that she is being embarrassed financially.

This is a case of free speech and all who believe that the right to protest is not limited to radicals ought to get into this fight.

Congress' Fault Rent Curbs End, Truman Asserts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—President Truman said today that the failure of Congress to provide sufficient money to enforce the rent control law forced the decision to loft the controls from one-third of the areas which now have them.

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods had no alternative but to make that decision, Mr. Truman told his news conference. He said that was all Woods could do with the amount made available to him for enforcement.

Woods announced yesterday that the controls will be removed by October 1 in about a third of the areas where they now exist. Details have yet to be announced, but Woods said the changes will be country-wide and not concentrated in any particular section.

He called in his regional officials and other assistants today to discuss the impending changes.

The appropriation bill carrying funds for administering the rent control law still is pending in Congress. Both houses approved it in varying form, and a conference committee undertook to resolve the differences. The House has approved the conference committee's recommendations but the Senate has not yet acted.

U. S. Population May Pass 150,000,000 Before 1950

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The population of the United States probably will rise above 150,000,000 before 1949 is out.

Its rapid approach to that impressive figure was noted today by Acting Census Director Philip M. Hauser in a report showing that:

1. The population was estimated at 149,215,000 on July 1, including some 500,000 in the armed forces overseas.

2. Its growth throughout this year has closely approximated 200,000 a month, indicating the 150,000,000 mark will be reached by November 1.

Hauser's report noted a "slight decrease in the birth rate in the last two years" but said a slight decrease in the death rate was tending to offset the decline in births and keep the population growth pretty steady.

The Office of Vital Statistics reports that Americans in general are living about two years longer than the prewar life span.

Of the 17,500,000 increase in population since the 1940 census, about 10 per cent was attributed to immigration.

Another Census Bureau report said there were 38,537,000 families in the United States in April this year compared with 32,166,000 at the time of the 1940 census.

"Keedoozle" Gives Way To "Zizz-Buzz"

MEMPHIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—The man who made millions of dollars as head of the Piggly-Wiggly grocery stores and then went broke said today his new automatic store here will not re-open.

Clarence Saunders said his Keedozle, operated with keys and conveyor belt, "was too much for the average mind to comprehend. It was too far in advance of public thinking."

He closed it down July 15, saying the shutdown was only temporary.

Now, Sauders said, he will open a new store on the site—the "Zizz-Buzz," a store where you punch a button and get your goods.

Woman Flier Defends Action

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP) — Ruth Nichols, the woman flier who had sat at the controls of a Transocean Airlines passenger plane which crashed off Ireland Monday, said today she had company authorization to act as an extra pilot.

However, both she and the captain of the crashed plane reiterated that she had not been in the cockpit for several hours before the crash into the sea, which cost eight lives, and that at no time had she been in full control of the plane.

Miss Nichols was among eight survivors who reached this country today on another Transocean craft. The first stop was at Windsor Locks, Conn. She first related her experiences at Windsor Locks and then at a news conference here.

She said she had a letter from Transocean authorizing her to act as an extra pilot. And, she said, she also helped fly the plane on which she and the seven others came home.

Hagerstown, Frederick Seek Airport Funds

[By The Associated Press]

Hagerstown and Frederick are asking the state and federal governments for about $1,132,000 worth of help on improvements at their municipal airports.

J. A. Abbott, city engineer at Hagerstown, said he is optimistic after a conference with the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington on a $1,000,000 runway extension project.

Mayor Lloyd C. Culler presented to the Frederick City Council a report by his airport advisory committee that the Frederick field needs $132,800 worth of drainage and paving work.

Revised Oath Of Office Taken By Panthiest

UPER MARLBORO, Md., Aug. 18 (AP)—J. Milton Stanford took an oath of office today which did not require him to state that he believes in the Christian religion.

Stanford is the panthiest who was denied his seat on the Brentwood Town Council because he had refused to take such an oath.

He explained than as a panthiest sense but could no ascribe to an he believed in God in the broad oath putting him on record as a believer "in a future state of rewards and punishments."

The Prince George's County town refused to seat him, and Stafford appealed to the county circuit court.

Judge Charles C. Marbury upheld his contention in a formal opinion last week, and said the required oath was contrary to the Declaration of Rights.

Hotel Sued For Body In Drawer

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—A St. Louis hotel was sued for $100,000 today because the body of a murdered child was permitted to remain in a dresser drawer while a Bolivar, Mo., couple occupied a room at the hotel.

The suit was brought in Circuit Court by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winn against the owners of the American Hotel.

The Winns occupied the hotel room the night of November 19 last, unaware that the child had been killed and left in the drawer by a previous tenant. The body was discovered by a maid November 20.

William N. Pollard, 26, who had occupied the room on November 16, was later arrested and admitted killing the two-year-old child, Joseph Nichols, Jr., Huntington, W. Va., when the child's crying annoyed him. Pollard, a Cincinnati war veteran and former mental patient, was sentenced last April to a 99-year prison term.

The child had been entrusted to Pollard's care by its mother, Mrs. Betty Nichols.

The Winns allege they suffered physical and mental anguish and damage to their reputations as a result of being detained and questioned in the case. They claim the hotel management was negligent in failing to discover the child's body before renting the room to another tenant.

Sen. O'Conor Conducts Poll On Key Issues

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) said today he is polling his Maryland constituents on 10 key issues of the day.

His office has received several hundred replies to questionnaires which were sent out, he said. All the replies are not in yet, but he believes he has enough to get a good idea of what the opinion is in Maryland.

The replies so far, the Senator reported, favor military assistance to Europe 3 to 1, are against federal compulsory health insurance 6 to 1, and favor a five to 10 per cent budget cut by 8 to 1.

The replies were about equally divided on the 75-cent minimum wage issue and on salary increases for Cabinet members. They were 4 to 1 against the Brannan farm program, 2 to 1 against aid to China, and about 50-50 on including Franco Spain in the ECA program.

Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii was favored by about 8 to 1.

U. S. Officer Says He Never Trusted "Rose"

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18 (AP) — An American Army officer bitterly testified today he never trusted Tokyo Rose "or any other Japanese."

Major Wallace G. Ince, who was taken prisoner at Corregidor, made the statement at the Tokyo Rose treason trial when telling of his contacts with Mrs. Iva Toguri D' Aquino at Radio Tokyo during the war.

She is on trial for treason for broadcasts she made which earned her the name among American servicemen of "Tokyo Rose."

Under direct examination of Defense Attorney Wayne Collins he declared Iva never made any of the treasonable statements service-men have attributed to her.

99 Known Dead In Jap Typhoon

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (Friday) (INS)—United States Army authorities in Tokyo announced that 99 persons are known dead and 105 missing on typhoon-lashed Kyushu Island in Southern Japan.

The Army said the storm swept away 122 houses and partly inundated 30,000 others, forcing uncounted thousands to seek higher ground until flood waters subside.

United States civil affairs teams in the stricken region reported no casualties among American personnel in Saga Prefecture, (province) although the area was hard hit by the storm and is cut off from rail and highway communication.

The typhoon was followed by 34 inches of rainfall in three days, two thirds the annual normal precipitation for Kyushu.

Tentative plans for a dance to be held October 23 at the Shrine Country Club also were discussed.

Novel Theme Used For Dinner Party

Miss Rose Stemp was hostess at a Chinese party recently at her home, 223 Union Street.

Chinese decorations were used and a Buddha at which incense was burning centered the table. Dragons were used for novelties. Chow Mein, Eggs Foo Yung and other Chinese dishes were served.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Collins, Miss Della Shumaker, John Williams, Detroit, Mich., Miss Colleen Boyle, Mt. Savage; Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Talbott, Mr. and Mrs. T. Ferguson, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hedrick, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Busser and Mr. and Mrs. Hemp, Frederick.

Mrs. Talbott sang a Chinese folk song and Miss Boyle performed a Chinese dance.

STURDY, PRACTICAL AND DURABLE ARE THE THEME WORDS FOR FALL'S LINEUP OF FEMININE ACCESSORIES

By PAT FULLERTON
News Staff Writer

Last year, fashion designers notified women that at last they were going to be allowed to look like women. This year, they're just as ecstatically allowing women at last to look like little boys.

Oh well, no matter what you call it, this year's styles have a lot to recommend them particularly in the accessory line. There's no doubt about it, they're made sturdily.

What could be more practical than a trim leather belt with a watch suspended from one side? Reminiscent, of course, of a man's pocket watch.

The craze for matching hats has hit everything. One of the prettiest is a soft, shetland bonnet dyed to match a skirt of the same material. That, incidentally, is proof positive that the hat is once again becoming and everyday bit of wearing apparel.

Everyone knows that sweater sets, matching or harmonizing, have come in again. But, how many have seen the all-in-onesweater with a false front which looks like two but is as light as one?

In the pocket book corner, the sturdy corduroy pouch looms up. It comes to match the 1949 suit, of course, for decorativeness. But, in addition, it's big enough for a small weekend wardrobe.

Gloves will have that same highly practical look. Most often shown this winter will be the string glove whether in wool or cotton. Wooly mittens will have their place also.

Sturdy clothes take sturdy shoes. No more ballet slippers this year. Footwear styles have more of the look of hand-tooled English brogues than they have had since before the war.

In short, women had better learn to love these styles. The clothes that are coming out this year simply are going to refuse to wear out.

Often it's your greeting that makes your meeting a success or failure! Be warm, friendly, wholehearted!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

As the Powers Girls says, a great deal of your future is in the clasp of your hand.

Your way of greeting people has more to do with your success in life than you may think. It may not be right, but it certainly is human for people to make up their minds about you at first meeting. (Confess, now, don't you do it yourself?)

If a girl fails to look you in the eye, you immediately decide she is shy or unsure of herself. One who forgets to smile pleasantly you write off as haughty or critical. And the girl who hestitates to take your proferred hand you write off as being rude or stuck-up. Her charm rating falls pretty close to an irrevocable zero.

Everybody's Favorite

But the girl who greets you with an open and friendly manner you mark as one worth knowing better! Why? Because her warm friendliness implies her acceptance of you. She inspires a responsive feeling in you toward her.

That's the type of greeting every employer looks for when he must select one applicant from many to fill a job that necessitates meeting his customers. Hostesses keep it in mind, too, when they are issuing invitations. They know that friendly personalities will be good mixers instead of dull duds at parties.

You may meet people with a direct glance of your eyes and a sincere smile on your lips and still lose all by your handshake. You may be classed as a "fish" if you offer a limp and clammy hand that leaves no imprint whatsoever. You will be known as a "bear" if you squeeze and pump a profferred hand so hard that you leave only a memory of lingering pain. But your social grace will be established immediately by a firm yet gentle handclasp (not grasp) and you will leave a lasting impression of warmth and sincerity.

Points To Remember

Of course a well-mannered person immediately accepts a hand that is offered in greeting. However, the general rules covering handshakes are as follows: An older person, and or woman, usually extends his or her hand first; a young woman offers her hand to a young man; an employer to an employee; a hostess to her guests; and a lady is never required to remove her gloves.

This kind of knowledge is valuable only because it leaves your mind free to concentrate on a wholehearted greeting. The kind people remember—for which they like you!

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

WASHINGTON.

IN ROME, at a little sidewalk cafe—Ingrid Power, Rita Rosselini, Tyrone Bergman, David O. Jones and Linda Selznick or somebody romancing somebody over there someplace, has nothing to do with this story . . .

This concerns the father of a former soda jerk!

AUSTINE

Lunchers were idling pleasantly at the sidewalk cafe, in the golden Roman sunlight. After the continental pattern, the little cafe was surrounded by hedges and flower boxes . . . And in the very corner table where the hedges and flower boxes were thickest — suddenly, blam! @$&$@*!!

Blam! It all came tumbling down with a crash . . . flower boxes and flowers and dirt and hedge, and overturned table and chairs and silver and dinnerware spilling out . . . And the lunchers looked up—a car had backed right into the cafe corner . . . Everybody got up and stormed out to give the driver hell and scream whatsa matta you crazy or somepin you don't looka where you go.

The auburn-haired driver slowly got out of the car to survey the damage and face the irate proprietor and customers.

But the disturber of the peace was immediately recognized by two old friends, American newspapermen.

He was William O. Douglas, Supreme Court Justice, and also Father of a former soda jerk, his daughter, Mildred.

"I NEVER judge a woman by her hat," says The Individual who sells me some of mine. "It's her handbag. Most women's purses look like the inside of a wastepaper basket. Most men ought to look at the pocketbook if they want to know the true nature of the woman under the hat. But women still depend on their hats to slay their prey."

And to prove his point, The Individual told a story about a movie star, one of the ten best dressed.

During an interview she was showing off the hundreds of dresses, shoes, suits, in her closets. Then she came to a shelf full of hats.

"The dresses, shoes and coats are my infantry," she said, "but the hats are my heavy artillery."

IT ISN'T the heat, it's the stupidity . . . I have in my hand a letter paid for by you taxpayers, sent through the mails, at most cost. At the top of the piece of paper it says:

"UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE"

DIVISION OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS

WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

Then it says:

"HOBBY BOOKS LISTED IN POST OFFICE LOBBIES"

And here, Gentle Taxpayers, a list of the government lobby-hobby publications:

A Description of U. S. Postage Stamps.

You Can Make It Series. (3 vols).

Campstoves and Fireplaces.

Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes.

Building With Logs.

At the bottom of this list it says, "You may write for a more complete hobby list, free."

Luncheon Scoops

by Wendy Warren

Child stars, whether they act on the radio or for movies, are apt to feel their importance, and a few of them are downright obnoxious. But from all I'd heard about little Joan Lazer, I wasn't at all worried about our luncheon interview. As modest as she is capable, Joan has endeared herself to directors and other actors alike. She finished her stint as "Jessie" in the CBS daytime serial, "Rosemary," at noon, and then came to watch my broadcast of "Wendy Warren and the News," which follows "Rosemary" on CBS.

Joan Lazer

Since Joan had never eaten there, we lunched at the sumptuous Mayan Restaurant at Rockefeller Center. We both succumbed to the description of the specialty of the day, "Bouillabaisse a la Marseillaise," and found it a delicious dish.

Only twelve years old, Joan Lazer is already a triple-crown star. She's appeared on Broadway, has a good part in the current movie, "The Undercover Man," and besides her steady role on "Rosemary," she is featured on several other network shows.

Sitting across the luncheon table from this mighty mite, I found it hard indeed to realize that she is an experienced actress. She has a perky little face with a turned-up, freckled nose, and is as naturally poised as any child I have ever known.

My first question was whether Joan's busy radio schedule has interfered with her schooling. "I don't think so," said Joan. "I go to the Lodge Professional School, and I'm in the tenth grade already." That puts her two years ahead of the average child her age! Joan says her favorite subject is French . . . and she's also taking a course in Commercial Law!

As we nibbled our French pastries, I asked Joan where all this was leading her. "Well, of course," she said seriously, "I want to be a first-rate actress. But I'm also interested in writing, and I've tried my hand at several radio scripts." Then, just to complete my amazement, she added—"And I'm a singer, too. I've recorded several songs for albums . . . some Gus Edwards songs, and regular children's records." This little girl isn't just going places . . . she's arrived!

Miss Carpenter Named 4-H Club Agent

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., — Miss Ethelyn Carpenter, Lost City, has been notified by the Extension Department of West Virginia University that she has been appointed a Four-H agent. The county in which she will be located will be announced at a later date.

Miss Carpenter has been a teacher in the county for several years and last year she taught in the primary grades at Baker. She received her degree from Shepherd College and has been in charge of 4-H camps in Parkersburg and Point Pleasant this summer.

Central W.S.C.S. Groups Meet

Groups No. 5 and 6 of the WSCS of Central Methodist Church held a picnic supper August 10 in Grove I, Constitution Park.

Miss Virginia Simmons, leader of Group 5, led the devotional service. The two groups then separated for business meetings.

Mrs. Rozella Twigg will be hostess to Group 5 and Mrs. Esther Baker will be hostess to Group 6 next month.

National Guard Leaves For Camp This Saturday

Headquarters Company and Company C, 115th Infantry Regiment, First Battalion, National Guard, will leave from the Western Maryland Railway Station Saturday at 7:30 a. m. for Indiantown Gap, Pa.

The 200-man unit will undergo two weeks active duty training and will return September 3.

A convoy loaded with gear will leave the National Guard Armory here today at 6 a. m. The eight trucks and a jeep will be commanded by First Lt. Joseph W. Ansel and will join vehicles from Company A, Frederick, and Company B, Hagerstown, at Hagerstown.

Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, Jr., commanding officer of the First Battalion, will head the contingent of seven companies and headquarters staff.

Including in the battalion are 121st Engineer Company, Oakland; Companies A and B and the Medical Company.

Col. Millholand announced this week three changes on the staff of the First Battalion.

Capt. Robert W. Fink replaces Capt. Robert Powell as commanding officer of Headquarters Company. Capt. Powell will act as battalion intelligence officer, the position formerly held by Fink.

Capt. Robert C. Matlick was advanced to battalion executive officer, filling a vancancy in that post. Capt. William Vogel has assumed leadership of Capt. Matlick's former command, Company C.

First Sgt. Roy C. Hawse was appointed first sergeant of Headquarters Company replacing First Sgt. Harry C. Eyre.

To Attend Meeting

B. Beeson Snyder, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration in charge of the Cumberland office, will spend several days next week at the University of Maryland, College Park, attending a conference of FHA representatives from Maryland, Delaware and the two Eastern Shore counties of Virginia.

Junior Swimming Meet Is Planned

Registration for the first junior city swimming meet, to be staged at Constitution Park pool September 2, will be held at the pool August 29-31 at 10 a.m. at the pool, Edmund F. Hoey, city recreational director, said.

Boys and girls under 16 may compete in non-swimmers, beginners and advanced swimming events.

Seek To Dissolve Local Corporation

A petition for the dissolution of the corporation of the Tip Top Restaurant, Inc., has been filed in Circuit Court by John T. Fey, attorney.

Principals in the corporation were Clyde Love and Anthony Scarpelli, according to Fey. At one time, he said the firm owned and operated a restaurant on South Mechanic Street, Queen City Pavement and a third on Virginia Avenue. All have been sold, and the principals seek to dissolve the company, he explained.

Trustee Named For Restaurant

A voluntary deed of trust for the benefit of creditors has been docketed in Circuit Court by Joseph W. Anderson and Martha A. Anderson, trading as Anderson's Restaurant, and William L. Wilson, Jr., local attorney, qualified as trustee under $5,000 bond.

Associated Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., fixed the bond and authorized the truste to take charge of the business in an effort to settle claims creditors. Wilson informed the court assets amount to about $6,500 in restaurant equipment etc., at 119 South Centre Street. Accounts payable were not listed in detail.

Sentence Suspended In Larceny Case

William Fagin, 300 block Dorn Avenue, received a suspended sentence of 30 days in the county jail yesterday on a charge of the larceny of a barrel of pitch from the Hiser Supply Company in July.

Charles Corns, also of Dorn Avenue, was acquitted by Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti on a similar charge. The material was valued at $17.50.

Dog Is Poisoned

The death of a hunting dog yesterday owned by Joseph C. Mooney, Fairgo Area, brought to four the number of pets poisoned during the past month. A local veterinarian said the poison was a new type distributed to kill rats.

Stolen Money "Spent," Police Probe Shows

Police listed as "spent" a sum of money that was reported stolen from a couple in a Maryland Hotel room yesterday morning. Lt. James E. Van said the man first reported $1,500 had been taken.

A check, however, showed that approximately $900 was hidden under the bed and waitresses in the downtown area told of seeing the man at an earlier hour spending money freely and leaving paper money lying when he left, police said.

Guard Commends Area Employers

Although there has been some complaint in other parts of the state, Cumberland employers have cooperated in an outstanding manner in giving leaves for attending the 29th Division encampment at Indiantown Gap, Pa., National Guard officials here reported yesterday.

Brig. Gen. Henry C. Ruhl, Baltimore, Maryland quartermaster of the division, complained Wednesday that many businessmen in the state had asked that their employes be relieved from duty.

Suit Entered Over Building Remodeling

A show cause order has been signed by Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in Circuit Court in the petition of Charles W. George and William W. George, trading as George Construction Company, against Jeanne A. Wilson. The plaintiff has until August 31, to show cause why a mechanics lien against her property on North Centre Street should not be executed and a trustee appointed.

A mechanics lien for $2,988.51, has been entered against the business property recently remodeled by the company for Mrs. Wilson.

Woman Injured By Police Car

Mrs. Ruby K. Pownall, 34, of 46 Bedford Street, who was injured early yesterday when struck by a of Baltimore and George Streets, police cruiser at the intersection was reported in good condition last night at Allegany Hospital.

The woman was treated for back injuries and a chin laceration.

Police identified the driver as Officer Charles E. Cubbage, 30, 223 Baltimore Avenue, who said he did not see the woman until the left front fender of the car hit her. Officer Kenneth Morrisey, who was on duty at the intersection, assisted him in taking Mrs. Pownall to the hospital.

Investigation revealed that the traffic lights were off at the time of the accident at about 12:15 a. m. No charges were filed against the officer.

Horseshoe League Schedule Set

The schedule for the opening round of the city Horseshoe League tournament Saturday at 6 p. m. has been anounced by Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director.

Matches will be played Wednesday and Saturday until the last of next month when each group will have met the other teams. After the single round robin, a Shaughnessy playoff will be held among the top teams to determine the city winner.

Saturday, the North End will meet Union Laundry at the latter's courts at Fourth and Seymour Streets; Harding Avenue at Mapleside, Gleason and New Hampshire Streets; Second Street at Export Brewers at the north end of North Mechanic Street; Gephart at Arch Street, at Millenson's Parking lot between Virginia Avenue and Arch Street and Humbird Street at West Side.

Each of the ten teams has a home court and each is permitted to furnish its own horseshoes.

Your eagerly awaited vacation will soon be here . . . and then comes that wonderful period of "getting away from it all". But there are somethings that should go along with you ... among them are your local papers. Just picture yourself floating peacefully on a cool, placid lake or river; relaxing in the shade of a beach umbrella, caressed by an ocean breeze; or gently swaying in that comfortable hammock in the coolness of your summer camp . . . and reading in your copy of the TIMES or NEWS about how hot it is in the old burgh! Ah-h-h-h, then life is really sweet! Of course, there's always the possibility that you might want your copy of the paper for other reasons. Like keeping up with the news, the comics and things like that. But regardless of your reason, you'll enjoy your papers on your vacation. So before you leave, pick up your phone and instead of saying: "Stop my paper for two weeks" . . . say 'SEND 'EM TO ME!"

SITS IT OUT—Staging a "sit-out" strike against a Boston hotel which ordered her either to get rid of her dog or move, Mrs. Nina M. Brown, 64, is shown after she had spent three nights in a public park in a wheelchair with her pet, "Trixie." A former Broadway showgirl, she announced that she would continue to stage her protest until the dog was readmitted. The hotel is willing to take her back minus "Trixie."

Physician Doomed By Atom Bomb Is Japan's Most Popular Author

BY JOHN RICH

TOKYO, Aug. 18 (INS)— A Japanese physician who is resignedly awaiting death from effects of atomic bomb radiation, has become his country's best-selling author.

Prof. Takashi Nagai, who makes his home in Nagasaki where the second atomic bomb exploded August 9, 1945, has written four books dealing with his own experiences after being exposed to the bomb's deadly gamma rays.

A survey of Japanese best-sellers, cited in a report from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, showed that a total of 510,000 copies of Nagai's books were sold in the first six months of 1949.

His latest book entitled "Leaving My Children Behind" led the field in fiction and non-fiction books published during that period, the report said. Three hundred thousand copies of it were sold.

Second from the top was "Discovering Peace" by Rev. Dr. Shinsho Hanayama, Buddist chaplain of Sugama Prison who attended Hideki Tojo and other top Japanese war criminals when they were executed last year.

At the time of the explosion, Nagai was in Nagasaki University Hospital, near the center of the blast. He was knocked unconscious, but several hours later managed to drag himself to the place where his home once stood.

There, among the debris, he found the charred bones of his wife and a rosary. The Nagais are Roman Catholics.

His two children, to whom he has dedicated his best seller, escaped death because they were living with relatives outside Nagasaki when the bomb exploded.

His four books are a day-by-day chronicle of the agonizing aftermaths of radiation. In them he tells how he has lost weight where his skin is stretched so tight over his bones that he feels it could not extend further.

Nagai does not expect to live through 1949, but makes it clear that he is resigned to his fate. He writes: "Through the atomic bomb, all that which obstructed my right way of living has been cleared away. I was able to taste the true happiness which is a gift of God."

City Asks Bids For Grading Streets

The Street Department yesterday asked for bids, to be submitted by September 6, for the grading of Myrtle and Warren Streets.

The work consists of excavating and surfacing of the roadways with cinders, construction of straight and circular concrete curbs and other incidental work.

Probable Chancellor Of New West German Republic Denounces Russia

BONN Germany, Aug. 18 (AP) — Dr. Konrad Adenauer, probable chancellor of the new West German Republic, said he will not collaborate in any way with the Russians.

The 73-year-old chairman of the victorious Christian Democratic Party declared in his first interview since the count of votes in Sunday's election:

"Eastern German (the Russian zone) constitutes for us the foremost and most difficult question. We must move very cautiously. We ought not to give the impression, either in Germany or in the United States, that we shall collaborate in any way with the Russians."

"It is impossible," he continued, for the West German State "to collaborate with any area dominated by the Russians." This, he added, includes the sphere of life—political and economic— in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

The veteran political leader was not pessimistic over the chances of Eastern and Western Germany becoming "a unified state" eventually, but he indicated such unity is not around the corner.

"We cannot allow the people of Eastern Germany to feel that we have given them up," he added.

Economic cooperation between Eastern and Western Germany would be possible, he said, but only after Russian Communism and American private enterprise find some way to live together.

"The first real duty" of the Republic, Adenauer said, will be "to make every family a home-owner" —to solve the housing problem.

He added that the new government "will have to re-examine" the touchy problem raised by allied dismantling of German industrial plants.

"We must try to solve this question without too much narrowmindedness and too much stubbornness," he said.

The dismantling subject was one of the hottest domestic issues of the recent election campaign.

The new Bonn parliament will be asked to inquire into the need for dismantling some 150 plants now listed for razing. The U. S. Senate has recommended that occupation authorities re-examine this list to determine whether European recovery would be hindered without them.

The new West Germany government, dominated by conservatives, will be created in Bonn next weekend. Leaders of the Christian Democratic Party were called today to a series of conferences, the goal of which are:

1—To form a coalition of right-wing groups and establish an unchallenged majority over the Socialists, who still are a major party.

2—To choose the first chancellor in Germany since Hitler and recommend a candidate for the Presidency.

Adenauer's Party won 139 seats in Sunday's balloting. The Socialists, led by Kurt Schumacher, got 131 seats and represent a powerful minority. The communists, with only 15 seats, are a negligible factor. More than 100 seats went to candidates representing various minor parties.

The U. S. High Commissioner for Germany,. John J. McCloy, said in Frankfurt he would favor steps to include the new Republic in the Council of Europe now in session at Strasbourg, France.

"I feel personally," McCloy said, "that steps in that direction are highly desirable."

An American official said, however, the question is up to Europeans.

Cold Meats Offer Great Variety

Some foods are naturally good companions. This is the case when it comes to the many combinations of ready-to-serve cold meats and fruits and vegetables.

Liver sausage, bologna, salami, veal loaf, head cheese, pimiento loaf or minced ham all fit in a menu with potatoes—potato salad, scalloped potatoes or potato chips. The meat and the potato salad or potato chips can be tastily displayed on a platter with edible garnishes of carrot strips, radishes and tomato wedges. Jellied fruit or vegetable salads go equally as well with the cold meat.

Or the ready-to-serve meat can be chopped and combined with vegetables in a salad for the main fare of the meal. Bologna is delicious with cooked peas, tomato cubes, lettuce and a tart vinegar dressing. The salad is served on lettuce or endive with hot butter toast tips.

Another combination is minced ham cut julienne style and piled over tossed tomato wedges, sliced hard-cooked eggs, chopped pickle and a zippy dressing. Liver sausage combines with finely chopped onion, finely sliced green pepper, sliced carrots, diced celery and lettuce. It is artfully moistened with mayonnaise seasoned with a small amount of horseradish.

Cold meat - fruit combinations make an appealing main dish served in individual style or in one large bowl lined with salad greens. Chopped ham is grand with pineapple chunks, grape halves and lemon juice thinned mayonnaise, Apricots, black and red cherries are naturals with veal loaf.

Refrigerator Cookies

4 cups sifted enriched flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cream of tartar; 1 teaspoon soda; ⅔ cup lard; 2 cups brown sugar; 2 eggs; 1 cup chopped nutmeats.

Sift together flour, salt, cream of tartar and soda. Cream lard and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs and blend well. Combine sifted dry ingredients and nutmeats; add to creamed mixture and mix thoroughly. Shape the dough into 2 or 3 rolls, 1½ inches in diameter; wrap in wax paper and chill in refrigerator overnight. Cut into ⅛-inch slices and bake in a moderately hot oven. (400 degrees F.) 6 to 8 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 9 dozen cookies.

Mock Chicken Legs, Country-Style

¾ pound ground veal; ¼ pound ground pork or pork sausage; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 5 wooden or metal skewers; ¼ cup enriched flour; 3 tablespoons lard or drippings; 2 cups milk; salt for gravy; pepper for gravy.

Combine ground meat, salt and pepper. Divide meat into 5 portions. Mold each portion firmly on a skewer shaping the meat like a drumstick. Dredge with flour. Brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Cover and cook slowly for about 30 minutes. Remove drumsticks from pan, stir remaining flour into drippings and add milk. Stir until smooth. Season gravy. Serve gravy over drumsticks. 4 to 5 servings.

Pineapple Marshmallow Cake Pudding

½ pint heavy cream, whipped
2 cups diced marshmallows
2 cups cake crumbs
1 cup crushed pineapple drained

Combine whipped cream, marshmallows, cake crumbs and pineapple. Chill in refrigerator for three hours before serving.

Yield: 8 servings.

Lemon Cream Cupcakes

½ pkg. (2 ounces) lemon pudding
8 bakers' white or gold uniced cupcakes
1 teaspoon confectioners sugar

Prepare lemon pudding according to directions on the package. Slice cupcakes in half horizontally. Place 2 tablespoons lemon filling between cupcake halves. Sift confectioners' sugar over the top of cupcakes.

Yield: 8 lemon crea mcupcakes.

Angel Food Surprise Cake

1½ ounces cherry gelatin, 1 cup hot water, ¼ cup pitted red cherries, 1 bakers' (13½ ounce) angel food cake, ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract, ¾ cup heavy cream, whipped.

Dissolve cherry gelatin in water and stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thick; fold in cherries. Slice ½" of cake away from inner rim of angel food cake and cut it into ½" cubes; add to cherry gelatin. Refill cake center with cherry gelatin and cake mixture. Add vanilla extract to whipped cream. Cover the top and sides of cake with whipped cream. Place in a refrigerator until ready to serve.

Yield: 8 servings.

Corn Cutlets With Rice Make Inexpensive Dish

It' fresh corn time again — and there's still a generous supply of canned corn from last season's pack! This should assure us not only a plentiful amount, but a reasonable price. If corn is combined with rice, as in this corn cutlet recipe, it makes a delightful low-cost dish indeed.

Corn cutlets may provide the only hot dish for a summer supper of cold cuts and salad greens, or they may accompany more elaborate meats in a large dinner — but don't overlook the possibility of serving corn cutlets with garden vegetables, omitting meats completely!

Rice gives many dishes the sturdy quality of a "piece de resistance." Keep it, cooked, in the refrigerator for easy summer meal preparation.

- 1¼ cups cream-style corn or 1¼ cups cooked fresh corn
- 2 cups boiled rice — pack firmly but do not mash
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ½ cup fine bread crumbs

Put 1 cup of white rice, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 cups cold water in a two-quart saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency. Never stir rice while cooking — and the grains will be separate and tender. Makes approximately 3 cups fluffy white rice. Keep left-over cooked rice in a covered bowl in refrigerator — you'll find it handy next time you're in a hurry to fix a quick meal.

Measure 1¼ cups of corn and mix with rice, onions, salt and pepper. Add egg, mixing well. Chill in refrigerator at least 1 hour. Shape into cutlets, using ¼ cup mixture for each cutlet. Roll in bread crumbs. Chill again if cutlets are very soft. Fry in small amount of hot fat in skillet until golden brown. Makes 8 cutlets, of generous size, or 12 medium sized ones.

Jellied Meat Salad Is Cool Summer Dish

Preparing jellied meat salad is one good way to save homemakers from long hours in the kitchen. This substantial main dish can be made early, stored in the refrigerator, and be ready for a meal at any time.

Leftover roast is ideal for jellied salads. Cook the less-demanded cuts of beef, veal, pork or lamb for salads. These cuts are lower in cost but as nutritious and tasty as many of the more demanded cuts.

So that the meat will be tender and juicy it is simmered in water to cover. When cooked and cooled, the fat and bone are removed and the meat is ready to be cut up for a gelatin combination with fruits or vegetables.

With the addition of bite size pieces of beef, tomato aspic can be turned into satisfying main fare. The salad is made in either well oiled individual molds or in one large ring mold. When unmolded on crisp lettuce, potato or cabbage salad fills the ring.

Chopped celery, cooked peas and carrots go well with any meat. Fruits are especially appealing with veal and lamb. Mayonnaise not only goes on top of the salad, but it can be the tangy basis of the plain or flavored gelatin mixture.

Stuffed Hamburgers Please Hungry Picnic Crowd

Let's suppose you are planning a summer picnic for the family and guests. Picnic entertaining can be easy. If you have an out of door fireplace available you might build the menu around roasting ears of sweet corn. Lacking the fireplace the ears of corn can be cooked in boiling water. Most Americans are always hungry for sweet corn and this is the time when it is at its best.

See what you think of a menu like this:

Stuffed hamburgers potato chips
Sweet corn on the cob
Sliced tomatoes and cucumbers
Apple sauce turnovers or Watermelon

If you add coffee for the grown ups and milk for the youngsters what more do you need? Nothing, really, but more of the same. But you may want some recipes. Suppose we check off some of the easy foods, first.

Easy Foods

Potato chips head such a list. All you need to do is to buy enough of them because no one seems to know when to stop eating them. They are crisp, salty, and appetizing.

Peel the tomatoes. Leave the well washed skin on the cucumbers. Run the sharp tines of a fork up and down the green cucumber skin on the whole cucumber. Do this so you have a parallel row of indentations when sliced. Each slice shows the notched and decorative edging.

Corn On The Cob

Roasting ears of sweet corn may be prepared in either of two ways. First, the ears with outer husks and silk left on, are immersed in a pail of water. Let them stand in the water for a half hour or so. Then shake the ears well and bury them, husks and all, in the hot coals.

If you know the likes of the guests at the picnic you might prepare roasting ears with garlic flavored butter. Carefully remove the silk and turn back some of the husks. Brush the kernels with garlic flavored butter. Bring the husks together back over the ears. Roast as usual.

Now we are ready for the stuffed hamburgers. These are juicy and substantial since each serving is a pair of hamburgers with stuffing between.

STUFFED HAMBURGERS

Meat Cakes

2 pounds ground round steak
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 teaspoons salt
pepper to taste
½ teaspoon accent or zest or MSG (optional).

Stuffing

1 cup crumbled potato chips
4 slices day old bread, crumbled
4 strips bacon
¼ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon poultry dressing seasoning.
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper (optional).

Mix the meat, grated onion, seasonings. Lay a piece of paraffin paper on the table or flat surface. Put mounds (2 level tablespoons, each) of the meat on the paper. Have the mounds about 3 inches apart. Lay a piece of paraffin paper on top. With a rolling pin press down firmly and evenly to flatten the meat into thin rounds. Repeat until all the meat has been shaped into rounds.

For the stuffing crumble the potato chips and the bread. Cut the bacon into small squares, add the diced celery and cook until the bacon is crisp. Add the bacon and the bacon fat to the chips and crumbs. Season to taste. If the mixture seems dry add tomato juice or milk or water as needed.

Put a spoonful of the dressing on a meat round. Top with a second meat round. Press edges together. Pan-fry or cook on broiler grids if they are close enough together to prevent the meat cakes breaking and falling through. Serve hot.

The Sorosis club of New York, founded in 1868, was the first permanent women's club in the United States.

Rev. Augustus Toplady, English clergyman (1740-1778), wrote the hymn, Rock of Ages.

Keep Summer Cookies In Refrigerator

Let the weather be hot or cold, youngsters still call for cookies. To answer that demand during summer days make the refrigerator take the place of the cookie jar.

With a few minutes notice the homemaker can produce a plate of delicious homemade cookies made to order for summer's iced beverages.

When they are prepared the refrigerator way, rolling and cutting time is at a minimum. The dough is merely formed into rolls about 1½ inches wide, covered with waxed paper and chilled. When cookie time comes the dough is taken out of the refrigerator, thinly sliced and baked. Shortened with lard, the cookies stay fresh and have a nice, crisp texture that makes them perfect for snack or picnic "dessert-ing."

Nut meats, melted chocolate, orange or lemon juice and rind may be added to vary the refrigerated cookies. Lazy summer cooking suggests other non-rolled cookies such as mince-meat, spice or chocolate oatmeal drop cookies and cinnamon or coconut bars.

Here's the first step in making linens last!

THE problem in laundering white and color-fast cottons and linens is how to make them snowy-white and color-bright without wearing out the fabric.

The answer is... launder with Clorox! For Clorox is easy on fabrics... makes linens snowy-white, color-bright extra-gently... because it's free from caustic and other harsh substances. Clorox also conserves linens another way... it lessens rubbing! In addition, Clorox removes stains, deodorizes, makes linens sanitary!

pitching horseshoes
by Billy Rose

BEFO' de wo'—World Wo' II, that is—the cushiest peacetime assignment the Army had to offer a West Point graduate was at one of its cavalry posts. Because, where there's cavalry there are bound to be horses, and where there are horses there is frequently polo—the sport of kings and second lieutenants.

Billy Rose

Which brings me to the story of Lieutenant Larry Benson's revenge and, if you'll pardon a frightful pun, his mallets aforethought . . .

In 1938, while playing No. 2 on his post's polo team, Larry's right eye got in the way of an opponent's mallet, and when he came to in the hospital an hour later, he was minus the eye. The following week, in accordance with standard operating procedure, the Army presented him with a handsome glass substitute and reassigned him to command a battery of mimeographs in the post's supply center.

When Larry realized he would never again chase a small white ball around a big green field, he became well-night inconsolable and, like so many men who become well-nigh inconsolable, he began to console himself with a bottle.

But, as luck would have it, the Colonel in charge of the post was a teetotaler—not the live-and-let-guzzle type, but the other kind—"everybody - o n-the-wagon-pronto." And as for the Colonel's lady, well—she was every bit as tight-minded as he.

One morning, when Larry reported for duty after a night of barflying, the Colonel fixed him with a ball-bearing eye. "Benson," he said in the tone of voice one usually reserves for a tarantula crawling up one's leg. "You—are—drunk!"

Larry, who quote prided himself on being able to drink like a gentleman unquote, couldn't imagine how the Colonel had diagnosed his condition until he groped his way to the men's room and examined himself in the mirror. And there was the answer—his good eye looked as if it had been spattered with ketchup, while the other was as clear as the crystal it was made of.

Well, Benson was what you might call a resourceful man, and so he went to a glass-eye artist and ordered two more eyes—one mildly bloodshot, the other the color of borscht. And after that, on mornings-after, he saw to it that his false eye matched the true one, shifting in easy stages from very bloodshot to medium bloodshot to clear.

From then on, his cognacing caused no comment, and the ex-polo player might have shuttled for years between martinis and mimeographs if his hankering for horseflesh hadn't led him to apply for an assignment which would get him back in the saddle.

"Request denied," said the Colonel. "Furthermore, when I order a man to do a particular job, I expect him to stick to it. Remember, Lieutenant, we are all in the service of the United States of America."

Naturally, this kind of talk-talk didn't set well with Larry and, determined to get hunk, he went back to the orb specialist and ordered a very special kind of eye: smack-dab in the center where the eyeball should have been, his specifications called for an American flag fluttering in the breeze.

The day of vengeance came a week later when the Colonel and his wife held their annual reception for th junior officers of the post. As the bored lieutenants and captains were mumbling their thanks for the junior officers of the post, Larry stepped forward, bowed, and then straightened up, his eyes half closed.

"Madam," he said solemnly, "we must never forget that we are all in the service of the United States of America." And with that he popped his right eye open.

A good fifteen minutes later, when the woman was finally brought to with smelling salts and much rubbing of the wrists, she told her husband, as best she could, about the fluttering flag in Larry's eye. . . .

And that's the story of Lieutenant Benson's revenge. For to hear the cavalry boys tell it, the Colonel is still wondering whether he's married to a do-gooder or to a dame who hits the bottle on the sneak.

Audra Speicher Becomes Bride

GRANTSVILLE — Miss Audra Claire Speicher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Speicher, Grantsville, and James Carroll Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Hahn, 42 West Green Street, Westminister, were married Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Evangelical and Reformed Church here.

The single-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George K. Ely pastor, before the alter adorned with ferns, palms, white gladioli and candelabra with long white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white marquisette, fingertip veil fastened to a band of orange blossoms. She caried a bouquet of white roses with baby breath centered with an orchid and tied with white satin streamers.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Byron H. Bender played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Floyd Kieffer, Meyersdale, Pa. who sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallottee, and "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Mrs. Bender also played the wedding marches.

Her maid of honor, Miss Maggie Edith Wentz, Lineboro, was attired in yellow marquisette dress with which she wore a yellow hat and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Eleanor Meyers, a bridesmaid and cousin of the bridegroom of Pleasant Valley, Westminister, wore a lavender dress of marquisette, with matching hat and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mrs. D. L. Cook, a bridesmaid, Baltimore, a cousin of the bride wore a lavender dress of marquisette with matching hat and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mary Beth Speicher, Westminister, junior bridesmaid and cousin of the bride, wore a dress of pink marquisette with matching hat and carried a minature bouquet of mixed flowers.

Alice Diane Speicher, Westminister, a cousin of the bride, wore a dress of pink marquisette with matching hat and caried a miniature bouquet of mixed flowers.

Sarah Elaene Speicher, Westminster, cousin of the bride, wore a dress of blue marquisette with a floral head band and carried a minature basket of mixed flowers.

Henry Redmer, Jr., Baltimore, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Paul Bixler, Jr., Cumberland, cousin of the bride groom, and Robert Harvey Speicher, Grantsville, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Speicher chose a dress of gray satin with navy accessories. A corsage of pink roses completed her costume.

Mrs. Hahn, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of powder blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds.

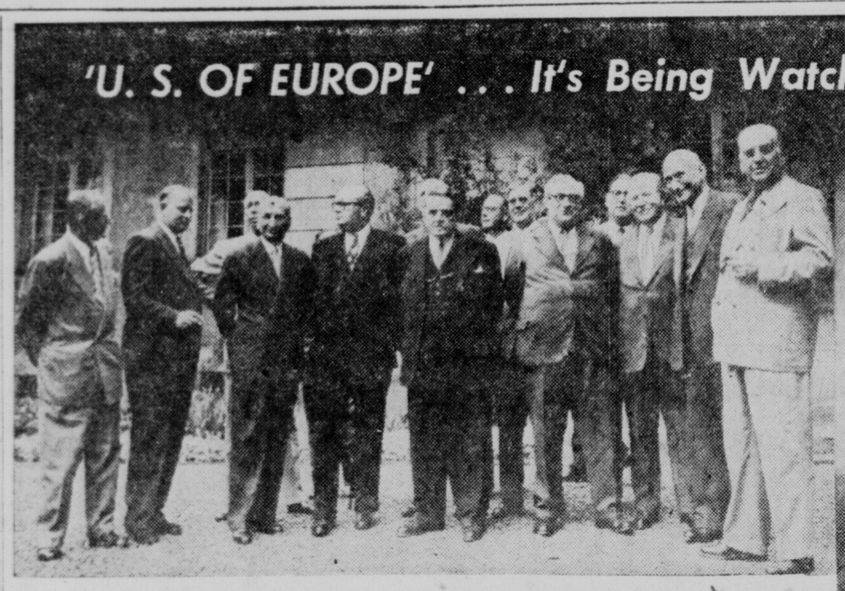

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Speicher entertained with a reception in honor of the bridal couple in the social room of the church. The Women's Guild of the church served as hostesses.

The brides table was decorated with ferns, and baby breath. The three-tiered wedding cake was ornamented with wedding bells and a bride and bridegroom. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Hahn left for a wedding trip through northern Pennsylvania.

The bride was graduated from Grantsville High School and attended Western Maryland College, Westminister. She was a granddaughter of the late Senator Harvey J. Speicher, Accident.

Mr. Hahn is a graduate of Westminister High School. He entered military service in 1943 and served with the Fourth Division in the European Theatre. He is associated with Hahn Brothers, Inc., Meat Packers, Westminister. Mr. and Mrs. Hahn will reside in Westminister.

Strasbourg children watch men shaping life to come in Europe

IN BATTLE-SCARRED—French and German-speaking Strasbourg, France, a breath and hope for lasting peace stirs again as the newborn Council of Europe meets in the first positive movement toward a unified Europe. Delegates to the 12-nation U. S. of Europe hear Winston Churchill and former French premier Paul Reynaud urge burying of differences such as the age-old Franco-German rivalry, and European unity in strength so great that none will dare molest her transquil sway. Meanwhile, Europe's war-scarred children and the world watch and await the outcome. Churchill says, "Old feuds must die." He didn't mention Russia.

Miss Maphis, M. L. Weakley Are Wed

WESTERNPORT — Evangelical United Brethren Church was the scene of the wedding Sunday afternoon of Miss Norma Lee Maphis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Maphis, 503 Maryland Avenue, to Martin L. Weakley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Weakley, Piedmont. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry R. Koontz, pastor.

The altar was banked with white gladioli, asters and ferns and tall white tapers. Preceding the ceremony "Because" was sung by Mrs. Helene Poland, Piedmont, who also sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt for the blessing following the exchange of vows. Her accompaniments were played by Miss Dorothy Lee Umstot of Westernport, who also played the traditional wedding marches and a recital before the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk chantilly lace over dutchess satin, styled with basque bodice tapering to a full peplum at the waistline and long pointed sleeves. The sheer high jewelry neckline was accented at the shoulders by gathered puffs of self material, giving an off-shoulder effect. The full skirt terminated in a sweeping princess train. She wore a hand-made tiara headdress embroidered in seed pearls, with a tiered fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion. She carried a white prayer book with white orchids and shower of ribbons.

Mrs. Irvin Rudy, Jr., Oakland, matron of honor and the bride's only attendant, was attired in a gown of blue lace with ruffled off-shoulder neckline and short puffed sleeves. Matching long blue gloves and a large blue sheer picture hat completed her costume. She carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds.

Casper Kight, Westernport, was best man, and William Wolverton, Baltimore, formerly of Piedmont, was usher.

Mrs. Maphis, mother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue crepe, with large navy blue hat, white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Weakley, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a medium blue print dress with black accessories and red rosebud corsage.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Plaugher of Hill Top, Westernport. Summer flowers and white candles were used in decoration throughout the house, and the bride's table was centered with a large three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was cut by Mrs. George Angle, Westernport, who was assisted in serving by Miss Dorothy Jean Grove, Westernport, Mrs. Cecelia Duckworth, Baltimore, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Anna Parrill, Keyser, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowls.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Baltimore and New York. For traveling the bride chose an off-white weathervane suit with matching hat and brown accessories and corsage of white orchids.

They will reside in Yellow Springs, Ohio, where Mr. Weakley is attending Antioch College.

Mrs. Weakley is a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland.

Mr. Weakley is a graduate of Piedmont High School and Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va. He is now attending Antioch College, where he is majoring in chemical engineering. During the war he served 23 months in the Army Air Force as a bombardier and received a commission as a second lieutenant.

Miss Banks Is Bride Of R. T. Nichols

PARSONS, W. Va. — Mr. and Mrs. W. Grove Banks, Berkeley Springs, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Virginia, to Robert Thomas Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Nichols, Thomas.

Rev. R. P. Kealey, pastor of St. Vincent's Catholic Church, Berkeley Springs officiated at the wedding Saturday morning, August 6, with the church decorated with palms and baskets of white gladioli.

T. Vincent Neely, organist, played the nuptial music and also accompanied Mrs. William C. Jones, Boston, Mass., who sang an Ave Maria and "On This Day."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white marquisette gown appliqued with white satin on the low bertha at the neckline. The tight-fitted bodice had a yoke of marquisette to make a high neckline with which she wore a single strand of pearls. The long sleeves ended in calla lily points over the hands. Her headdress was trimmed with satin and pearls to hold the veil of illusion which fell to the waistline. She carried an orchid and satin-covered prayerbook.

Miss Ruth Ellen Banks was her sister's only attendant and wore a pale blue net over blue taffeta with a matching bonnet and carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Patrick Nichols, Washington, served his brother as best man. Mrs. Banks, mother of the bride, wore a robin blue dress with black accessories. Mrs. Nichols wore an aqua dress with black accessories and both wore corsages of pink rosebuds at the shoulder.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom surrounded by tall white lighted tapers. Assisting at the reception were Misses June and Mary Burgbacher, Miss Maggie Carroll, Miss Frances Dawson, Mrs. Jane Shannon, Mrs. Theodore Laign, Mrs. Richahd Unger and Mrs. James Bogart, all of whom wore long pastel gowns with flowers in their hair.

Mrs. Nichols is a graduate of Berkeley Springs High School and of West Virginia University with a bachelor of science degree in home economics. She was listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," was vice president of the student body in her senior year and was a member of the home economics sorority.

Mr. Nichols is a graduate of Thomas High School. He spent two years at Potomac State school and two years at West Virginia University where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering whilte at the university he was president of Phi Sigma Nu, scholastic fraternity, a member of Sigma Phi Omega and Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering fraternity.

Following a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and to Canada they will reside in Vandergrift, Pa., where the bridegroom is employed by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. as a process engineer. Mrs. Nichols will teach home economics in nearby Leachburg, Pa.

Area Apple Growers Prepare To Harvest Record Crop

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 18 (AP)—Apple growers in the four-state orchard area around Martinsburg are getting ready to harvest one of the heaviest crops they've ever had.

There already is a trickle of early apples and processing plants are getting ready to start full-scale buying in about a week.

Government crop reporters expect a 128,000,000-bushel harvest throughout the nation this year, about 40 per cent above last year and 10,000,000 bushels above the average.

The West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania region radiating from Martinsburg is expected to fit into this pattern or do even better.

National Fruit Company of Martinsburg expects to employ about 1,300 workers through the harvest season. It's off-season employment is about 200.

The C. H. Musselman Company at nearby Inwood, another of the large processors, expects to have 800 workers next week.

National says it expects to produce at capacity for the first time in several years.

Both plants will start full operations August 25.

The Knouse Food Co-operative, which operates four apple plants in and around Peach Glen, Pa., announced it expects to handle 2,000,000 bushels of apples in the two-month period starting August 29.

Leaders of the co-operative told members in the Pennsylvania and nearby Maryland area that the bumper crop will result in two market restrictions:

1. It will accept apples only from members.

2. Only good quality fruit will be accepted.

No prices have been set in any part of the area.

One of the big annual events in the apple belt will come as the harvest picks up speed.

It is the annual picnic scheduled for August 27 at the Rosemont orchard operated near Winchester, Va., by U. S. Senator Harry C. Byrd (D-Va).

Leading growers, Department of Agriculture experts and market specialists will speak. There will be demonstrations of new spraying techniques and materials.

The picnic last year drew 2,500.

The apple harvest comes on the heels of a fine peach season in most parts of the area.

Fire Damages Miner's Home

WESTERNPORT — A fire of undetermined origin damaged the home of John Rose, 266 Main Street, yesterday afternoon.

Potomac Fire Company No. 2 of Westernport and Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 of Piedmont extinguished the blaze after firemen had battled it for half an hour.

Rose, a furloughed coal miner, estimated damage at $200. He said the loss was not covered by insurance.

The blaze started in a closet off the dining room where some clothing was stored. The dining room and stairway were damaged by the fire, while an upstairs room had smoke and water damage.

The University of Hawaii, in Honolulu, was founded in 1907.

12 Children Receive First Holy Communion

GRANTSVILLE—Twelve children of the combined parishes of St. Anne's Catholic Church, Avilton, and St. Stephens Catholic Church, Grantsville, received first Holy Communion at St. Anne's Church Sunday. Father David Dresman was the celebrant.

After the Mass the children renewed their Baptismal vows.

The service marked the close of the second week of vacation school. Classes have been held each Saturday since April. Two Ursuline Nuns from St. Peter and Paul School, Cumberland have been instructors.

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

Work To Resume On New Armory For Frostburg

Further Expansion May Hinge On Title

FROSTBURG — Work on Frostburg's new armory, which was stopped July 3, is to be resumed shortly, according to information received by Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore this week in a letter from Brig. Gen. Harry C. Reuhl, executive officer of the Maryland State Military Department.

Revised plans have been completed and blueprints of the plot of land and building were mailed here for filing in the city hall.

Gen. Reuhl stated that the Military Department is going ahead with the construction of the building with the knowledge that the title to the site is not clear. The question of mineral rights beneath the plot of land must be given more attention and cleared up before any other addition will be placed on this lot after the proposed armory is erected, the letter stated.

The project, promoted by Rep. J. Glenn Beall, the Frostburg Lions Club and the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg, was approved in May with an estimated cost of over $100,000.

The ground for the site, donated by the City of Frostburg, consists of about two acres of ground adjacent to the baseball park.

Farm Women Discuss Recreation Center

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Plans concerning a recreation center for the young people of the community were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Rock Oak Farm Womens Club at the home of Mrs. Russel Tusing last Monday. Mrs. C. P. Funkhouser led the devotions.

The September meeting, "What's Ahead for Rural Youth?" will be held as a public meeting at the Community Building at Inkerman, Saturday, September 17. Several speakers have been invited for the occasion.

Those attending the Farm Women's annual picnic at Lost River State Park from the Rock Oak Club were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Freeland and children, Mrs. Carl Peters and children, Mrs. Rob Baker and children, Mrs. Charles Heare and Joanne, Mrs. Charles Davidson, Mrs. Lawrence Funk, Mrs. Lynn Bean, Mrs. Ray Heare, Mrs. Amzie Poland and Lottie.

Gorman Lee Thayer Weds Miss Frye

LONACONING — Mr. and Mrs. Elie Frye, Lonaconing, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jeannie Lee Frye, to Gorman Lee Thayer, son of A. G. Thayer and the late Esther Hinebaugh Thayer, Deep Creek Lake.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Felix Robertson, Oakland, retired Lutheran minister and cousin of the bridegroom.

Miss Verna Craze, Midland, was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Phillip Thayer was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds. The maid of honor wore a strawberry colored suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and was employed until recently on the staff at the Celanese plant.

The bridegroom attended school at Oakland and is a veteran of five years service with the Navy, four years of it overseas. He is associated in business with his father and brother at Deep Creek Lake.

Following the ceremony the couple left on an automobile trip to eastern cities. On their return they will reside at Deep Creek Lake.

Because of the nomadic conditions of life in the Middle Ages, chests were the most important pieces of furniture. They held clothing and bedding, and could be used as beds and seats for retainers.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18 (INS)—Gaudel Pascal is recovering from an operation at the Mayo Clinic. But in three weeks he'll be in Hollywood to cast the movie version of George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

Deborah Kerr

What isn't known is that Pascal has Deborah Kerr set for the feminine lead on a commitment he retained when he sold her contract to MGM.

But his big reason for coming to Hollywood is to talk to Jose Ferrer about doing the male lead and directing the picture. It will be made in Italy in December.

Lauren Bacall, who's had a couple of suspensions at Warners, is now back in the good graces of her bosses.

Jack Warner has decided that Lauren is ready to carry a picture on her own. After she finishes "Young Man With a Horn" with Kirk Douglas and Doris Day, "Baby," as her old man Humphrey Bogart calls her, will star in "Storm Center," a hot melodrama.

The picture will be directed by Stuart Heisler and produced by Jerry Wald — so you can't say she isn't in good hands.

Howard Duff tipped his hand about how serious he is with Ava Gardner when Universal-International asked him to take Peggy Dow, one of their up and coming starlets, to an up and coming premiere. Howard said he thought Peggy was charming, but he couldn't take her, because he is dating no one but Ava.

A lot of people feel that Ava and Howard have had too many spats for their romance ever to wind up in matrimony. But you never can tell — they may get all the difficulties out of the way before they decide to take a matrimonial plunge.

Did somebody say that Hollywood companies are cancelling pictures to be produced in Europe? Everyday a new one springs up, no matter what is said about labor troubles over there, the high costs of being an American, and a few other things.

Universal-International is assigning that very good director, Robert Siodmak, to make "Deported" in Italy, starting the middle of September. This is the story supposed to be based on the notorious career of "Lucky" Luciano and his ilk, and it won't make any difference whether Luciano likes it or not. He's as much persona non grata in his native Italy as he is in the U. S. A.

• — • — •

Well, that mysterious beau of Marta Toren's in New York turns out to be one Lars Nordenson, wealthy Swedish businessman, who also has ideas of a career of his own.

He has written a play which he has the moola to produce himself on Broadway, if he has to. Of course, he'd like Marta to be the star, but if Universal-International says no, there will be no argument about it.

Incidentally, that belle has done herself a lot of good in New York publicizing "Sword in the Desert," and seems to be one of the foreign imports who doesn't go in for temperament.

Hollywood in shorts:

A bit of romance at Bit of Sweden (that's a cafe, kids) — Reno Brown, the cowgirl star, and Bill Shirley, the singer, who is going to go places at 20th, if he ever gets started.

Maureen O'Sullivan loves her family more than she loves a $2,500 a week job on Broadway. She has told Broadway Producer William Taub that she can't do his play "People Like Us," because it would keep her away from her children and her husband Johnny Farrow too long.

Just down the road at the Flamingo, Mrs. Dean Martin, who is getting her divorce in the same town, is a nightly visitor with her eight-year-old son Craig, listening to Spike Jones.

Motion picture people certainly turned out to honor Dr. Ralph Bunche at the United Nations rally at the Shrine Auditorium last night, including Mrs. Leo Spitz, Mrs. Howie Meyer, Benay Venuta. Celeste Holme and Howard Duff were part of the program.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Band Concert Set At Paper Mill Picnic

WESTERNPORT—The Potomac Fire Company Band will present a concert under the direction of Z. Clyde Kalbaugh, at the joint picnic sponsored by Luke Local No. 676, United Paper Workers (CIO) and management of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for their employes at the U. R. K. of P. Camp Grounds at Burlington, W. Va., Monday, September 5.

The concert will be presented in the afternoon and the drill team of the fire company also will give an exhibition.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 —(INS)— The passing show:

How well dressed are American women? The French say that our dolls rank second in the world—a generous tribute in the mind of the French. Everybody else says our babes are tops; that is, everybody except 200 U.S. manufacturers linked together in the lingerie and negligee associations.

They sell $800,000,000 of the billion-plus our women spend on fashions each year. Their squawk is that our dames are overlooking their underthings, and letting the whalebone and reinforced steel armor, with which they go into daily battle against the embattled male, go to rust.

Fitting rooms in even our better stores are, we are assured, a disgrace; which is either hearsay or heresy.

Unmentionables, unlimited, as I'm afraid I must call the truss trust, have assured me by exclusive mimeograph that we've hardly got a woman in the land who can walk through the amusement park's "fun house" and take the hidden air hose with assurance.

They even say we haven't got a lady who can faint decently anymore, as grandmaw used to faint with a flourish of her nine petticoats.

Let Rome burn. Unmentionables, unlimited, are out to forge the following four changes in the life of the American woman:

1.—Get women to buy their lingerie one piece at a time in direct relation to their outer clothing, instead of buying four or five slips just alike;

2.—Make color a part of the "inside fashion picture";

3.—To take an estimated 50,000,000 safety pins off the worn or broken shoulder-straps of the nation;

4.—Make American women as well dressed at the breakfast table and in the bedroom as they are in public.

We'll have to save item No. 4 for the memoirs, and items 1, and 2 for the next meeting of our marching and chowder society. But item No. 3 demands attention, for it could have heavy repercussions.

The sudden, simultaneous removal of 50,000,000 U.S. safety pins—(somehow, I see Gypsy Rose Lee as the person chosen to push the pearl button which electrically pulls out all the pins)—would record on every seismograph in the world.

The bourse, as well as windows, would be shaken. Perhaps something like this proposed pin-pulling happened to us before, when all the squaws in the land were rounded up in the neighborhood of what we now call Arizona and commanded to pull their pins on signal. The site is now called Grand Canyon.

"Re-awaken the Rita Hayworth in the American woman," is the stirring slogan of the undie association.

Who wants to knock that?

Back in 1938 when Damon Runyon saw Bob Hope's first movie—"The Big Broadcast"—he wrote a long column about the young man. He said, "he combines heart, humility and humor. I predict he will be a great star."

He is. In fact, the most recent box-office returns show that he is the most popular player on the screen today.

His "Paleface" has just finished its run, with $7,000,000 in the kitty. His "Sorrowful Jones", based on Runyon's "Little Miss Marker," has grossed $2,000,000 in its first month and will equal "Paleface."

His next one, "The Great Lover" will more than assure the top rating for this good-natured fellow who was idolized by millions of men in the forlorn and often dangerous war zones he visited.

During his recent hospital siege, after falling off a wooden horse, he had the comfort of learning that he and his fabulous partner in the oil business, Bing Crosby, had struck a gusher in Sydney, Tex. He wired Crosby:

"Congratulations. I made you a millionaire today."

Crosby wired back, "you wouldn't have hurt yourself in that fall if you had sense enough to fall on your wallet."

As for Robert's success, it couldn't befall a nicer or abler gent.

As all readers of sports pages know, the exact time of a knockout in boxing is held to be of great importance. Joe Blow, for instance, doesn't knock out Knuckles O'Rafferty in the third round. He knocks him out in 2:04 of the third round. Or 1:19, or 2:58.

Well, a New York editor hired a Swedish sportswriter to handle the Joe Walcott-Ollie Tandberg bout for him last Sunday. The fellow sent in a nice story but neglected the time of the knockout.

"Rush time of knockout," the editor radioed frantically.

After a puzzled hour or two, the guy wired back, "six fifty nine, p. m., Greenwich time."

Phares Reunion Hold At Seneca Park

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—The annual Phares Reunion was held Sunday at Seneca Park, Mouth of Seneca, with over 200 persons attending. A program was held under the direction of the president, Dewey P. Phares, Elkins.

Harry Phares, Valley Bend, W. Va. spoke on the Phares generation and he read and had for inspection an early history of the family from England. It was voted to write a book compiling this history with the present generation of Phares and make it available for each family if they desire it.

Dewey P. Phares, Elkins, was re-elected president; Franklin Phares, Valley Bend, was elected vice president, Myrtle K. Park, Petersburg, was re-elected secretary, and Roy Phares, Circleville, was re-eletcted treasurer.

Roy Phares and son were appointed to attend the annual Phares reunion at Shellbyville, Ind., and left this week, taking with them the early history of the family from England held by Harry Phares.

The next meeting will be held at Seneca Park, Mouth of Seneca, the first Sunday in August and it is planned to have the grave of the late Johnson Phares, near Circleville, W. Va., marked at that time.

Gifts were presented as follows: Oldest man present, Glenn R. Phares, Valey Bend, 70; oldest owman, Mrs. Alice Phares, Riverton, 84; youngest boy Johnny Smith, Maysville; youngest girl, Bonny Lou Phares, Maysville; oldest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Mallow, Timber Ridge; youngest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Heron, Jr., Onego; party traveling the longest distance, Mrs. Lucy Phares, Valley Bend.

William Powell To Star In "Love Crazy" Over NBC

By SYD KRONISH
(By C. E. BUTTERFIELD)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 — William Powell will star in "Love Crazy" on "Screen Director's Playhouse" Friday at 9 p. m over NBC. The play is an adaptation of the film comedy Powell made in 1941. Movie goers will recall Powell's role of a man whose wife, through a misunderstanding, enters a divorce suit — and how he pretends to be crazy to delay the proceedings.

Brenda Lewis, soprano, and Robert Schaeffer, tenor, will sing operetta favorites on CBS "Summer in St. Louis" Friday at 7 p. m. They will sing selections from New Moon, Song of Norway, South Pacific, Bittersweet and Carousel.

More good music can be heard over MBS at 9 on the Sylvan Levin Opera Concert. Soprano Mary Henderson and tenor Mario Berini of the Metropolitan Opera Co. will be the guest artists.

On MBS 'Meet The Press at 10 p. m. Clarence B. Randall, President of the Inland Steel Co. will be the guest. His remarks on the administration's handling of the fourth round wage dispute made headlines last week. Leading labor journalists will be the interrogators. For this broadcast only the program will originate from New York City.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Typical American

"WESLEY," one of the less fortunate ideas of the C. B. S. program department, is a technically beautiful thing, full of sound television camera shots and Schwerin research and well-trodden old radio ideas, all of it as tasteless as yesterday's oatmeal.

John Crosby

Wesley, the guy of the title, is a well - brushed, sturdy, only mildly poisonous young man of about fourteen who represents what C. B. S. probably considers the typical American boy. That is, the script insists that he likes to play baseball. He's a pitcher, of course. All typical American boys are pitchers. Heaven knows where the infield comes from. Kids from across the track, I guess. My private opinion of this young man is that he'd be happier hanging around the Pennsylvania Drug Store at Broadway and 45th Street, leering at the ingenues, but than I'm notoriously cynical on the subject of fourteen-year-old boys.

Wesley has a typical American sister, name of Elizabeth, who looks like a Hollywood starlet, a word coined to describe young ladies who are photographed in bathing suits for the magazines but never, never appear in motion pictures. Wesley, of course, also has a mother who is. I should say, Just Plain Bill of a different sex. She suffers rather more extravagantly than Just Plain Bill on less provocation and this torment is recorded by the cameras with more distinction than it deserves. Wesley's father, a Mr. Eggleston, is even more typically typical than all the rest. He smokes a pipe, is infinitely compassionate and understanding with his adolescent son and his toothsome daughter and he looks like a composite of the entire membership of the Lambs.

So nice and so typical is this family that there wouldn't be any reason for framing a television show around their happy home life if it weren't for the machinations of Wesleys loathsome Aunt Clara, her small reptile of a son and her unpleasant daughter, Claribelle, who wears glasses to indicate she's emotionally immature or maybe just nearsighted. There is a ceaseless battle of what I shall with great charity describe as wits between Aunt Clara and Wesley's mother to forward the separate and frequently conflicting ambitions of their young, though neither of the little—uh—rascals merits such respectful consideration.

And there you have it, nicely balanced as a profit and loss sheet—a nice, American mother, a wicked, unAmerican mother; a nice American boy, a not-nice unAmerican boy and so on—each counterbalancing the other and providing what passes on this show for plot. The only character on the program I have any regard for is Aunt Clara's husband, who appears to loathe his children and his wife in a highly commendable way.

The teen-age boy is imbedded probably forever into the program structure of radio—Henry Aldrich, Archie Andrews—but I see no compelling reason why he should be equally attractive on television. For one thing, you have to look at him and I can think of many more edifying spectacles. For another, while Ezra Stone can go on indefinitely yelling "Coming, Mother," the television teen-ager is going to grow up unless they remove a couple of his glands, which is probably a violation of AFRA's rules. Also, I ought to point out that Henry Aldrich is a pretty funny guy and Wesley isn't even intended to be funny, just typical. I can get enough of the typical American family looking at the catsup ads. I don't require them to be animated.

One other small complaint. Television directors are getting into the lazy habit of lining three people up at a dining room table, rattling coffee cups like Noel Coward in "Private Lives." This is confusing to us stay-at-homes. Whenever I see three people lined up at a table I expect one of them to say: "I think the book stinks."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

SIGNALING WITH TRUMPS

USE OF THE "three-trump echo," devised in the days of auction bridge by the veteran Sidney S. Lenz, tells your partner when you hold three trumps. Playing the middle card on declarer's first lead of the suit and your lowest on the second, proclaims your highest one left. Nowadays this is generally used only when you also want to announce your desire to ruff with that third trump.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass

After West led the heart K to the A, and the spade K was led, a look at the dummy told him that a lead now of the heart Q, in case South could ruff, would set up the J for declarer's use. He had no way to know that East's 4 on the first heart was the start of a high-low. It might be East's lowest. So he decided to let the spade K go by to see what East would play.

The 4 was put on that trick. When South next led the spade J to force the A, East played the 2. There was a clear high-low by East showing possession of another trump and the wish to ruff. So West scored the heart Q and led the 6 for East to trump. The ensuing diamond A trick then beat the contract.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Grantsville Man Is Injured In Fall

Paul Kinsinger, 42-year-old Grantsville farmer who was injured in a fall Wednesday, was reported still in an unconscious and critical condition in Memorial Hospital last night.

He suffered severe head injuries when he fell from a hay mow Wednesday morning.

weeks before its convention in Milwaukee last year after "four years of ill-advised and loosely-controlled promotional schemes which had eaten up the $15,000 reserve of the Order and saddled it with increasing debts and claims."

He also declared membership had declined steadily during each of the four preceding years and that the national magazine was published only intermittently.

The commander said the various officers of the Order, who are non-salaried members, have incurred expenses in conducting the business of the Order. He advised them to include their expenses in their report to indicate the extent of their contributions.

"Minute Man" Campaign

He also urged an intensive "Minute Man" membership campaign for the coming year, and recommended full participation in the annual Viola program as a means of raising enough money to provide a Washington office for the national service director and the national legislative director. Twenty full-time officers also could be employed, he declared.

He suggested an unemployment committee for each chapter to aid persons who may become unemployed during the coming year, and asked that each chapter appoint a Veterans Administration voluntary hospital committee to visit VA hospitals in their areas.

The campaign to obtain a Congressional charter is also being continued, he reported.

Several routine reports were submitted at the afternoon session before the group adjourned at 5 p. m. Members were guests of the Queen City Brewery for a social at 8 p. m.

Today's program will open at 8 p. m. with the comander's breakfast at the Elks Home. The regular session will follow immediately at 9:30 a. m. with reports of the executive and financial committees.

Reports of convention committees will follow and several general resolutions are expected to be adopted. Problems concerning legislation, by-laws and the annual Viola sale also will be discussed.

A parade tonight at 7:30 will highlight the convention. Units will assemble in the South End. The 13 divisions will form at 7 p. m. on Laing Avenue, Race Street, Pennsylvania Avenue and South Street for the march uptown.

National officers will be elected at a session Saturday morning at the Elks Home at 9 o'clock. At 11 a. m. memorial services will be conducted in Riverside Park. At 2 p. m. the finance and executive committees will meet and the convention will wind up with a banquet at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The Ninth Division, Raymond Whitehair, aide, will form on Fifth Street. It will include Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, Drum and Bugle Corps of Cumberland; Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW; Henry Hart Post Auxiliary Unit and Braddock Chapter No. 9, Disabled American Veterans.

The Tenth Division, Norris Jones, aide, will be led by the Loyal Order of Moose No. 271 Band; 4-H Girls of Bedford Road and their float; Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association and Rebecca Lodge float.

The Eleventh Division, with Commissioner Edgar Reynolds, aide, will include the Fulton Myers Post Drum and Bugle Corps, Fulton Myers Post, American Legion; Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; Volture 164, Forty and Eight, Dreyer Volunteer Fire Company float and the Sensabaugh company's commercial float.

A platoon of Maryland State Police from the LaVale barracks and some 15 members of the second platoon, four members of the day shift of the Cumberland Police Department and some 16 Auxiliary Police will assist in traffic duty.

At least 50 Cumberland District Boy Scouts are expected to turn up to assist in traffic duty during the parade. They will work under the direction of the Cumberland Police Department.

Conlon said the local Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials have promised to co-operate in seeing that the parade will not be held up at the Baltimore Street crossing.

Final details for the parade, the largest and over the longest line of march to be held here since the Centennial celebration, were worked out yesterday afternoon at a conference between Conlon and Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, chief of the city's traffic bureau.

Conlon said awards will be presented at the Maryland State Armory where the parade will disband.

DENIES SUICIDE ATTEMPT—Rapidly recovering after being found near death in a gas-filled room of her Hollywood home, actress Lynn Carver (above) denied reports that she attempted suicide. Although police found a note giving instructions concerning her son, Miss Carver insisted upon regaining consciousness, that a few too many drinks were to blame.

"Woody" Woodson To Coach Bruce High Teams

Aussies "Kid" Doubles Team Springs Upset

Sedgman, Worthington Whip Mulloy, Talbert

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 18—(INS)—Australia's "kid" doubles team of 22-year-old Frank Sedgman and 20-year-old George Worthington upset America's best—Gardnar Mulloy and Billy Talbert—by 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, 9-7, in the quarter-finals of the national doubles today.

Mulloy and Talbert, defending champions in the nationals and appointed Davis Cup doubles combine for the United States' defense against Australia Aug. 26-28, now must count on the prospects of facing the Sedgman-Worthington dreadnaught in the cup play at Forest Hills.

There is the further and more immediate prospect that the current national doubles at the Longwood Cricket Club may end up in an All-Australia finale. In the bracket opposing Sedgman and Worthington, Australia's Jack Bromwich and Billy Sidwell are favored to win their quarter-final match against South Africa's Eric Sturgis and Eustace Fannin tomorrow.

3,000 Witness Match

In the process of throwing America's somewhat complacent Davis Cup hopes into a state of bewilderment, Sedgman and Worthington played a crashing net game today. A crowd of 3,000 tennis fans, rooting for the racquet-happy youngsters from down under, saw them crack through with one placement after another.

Mulloy's service, the one soft spot of his otherwise nigh-invincible partnership with Talbert, was exploited to the fullest by the Australians. The three sets they won were cinched on the Floridian's serve.

Victory, coming on Mulloy's service, was run out to three match points by the grim Americans, but the Aussies finally grabbed the match on an out ball lofted by Talbert.

The second foreign seeded Italian duo of Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello won by default after playing three sets of their quarterfinal match with the French team of Bob Abdesselam and Paul Remy. The score for the three sets played was 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Suffers Pulled Muscle

Remy of the sixth foreign seeded French team suffered a pulled muscle in his right shoulder in the third game of the second set when he carried service. The injury hampered Remy so much they dropped that set 4-6, in the third set he twice double-faulted in service at important stages of play.

The French pair got off to a flying start in the opening set, with Remy breaking Del Bello's service in the 16th game. This provided the winning margin.

Play was halted at the end of the third set while a physician examined Remy's shoulder. After the examination and on the advice of the physician the French players decided against continuing—defaulting the set and match to the Italian players.

In an exhibition match, Ted Schroeder, Wimbledon champion, defeated South Africa's Eric Sturgess, runner-up for the 1948 national singles title, 6-4, 6-2.

"Dutch" Harrison Leads In Tourney

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 18 (AP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison found the long Cascade Hills Country Club course to his liking today as he shot a 65—seven under par—to grab the lead in the opening 18-hole round of the 72-hole Grand Rapids Open Golf Tournament.

Harrison, shooting for $2,600 first prize money, held a one-stroke lead over Jim Ferrier of San Francisco who had a 66 as a result of a red-hot incoming nine.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the No. 3 money winner among the nation's golf pros this year, found the going a bit rough on his outgoing nine and had to come up with a birdie and an eagle on the last two holes to post a 34 score at the turn. He added a 33 coming in, missing a six-foot putt on the 18th green.

Long-Driving Chick Harbert of Detroit, who was rated a co-favorite with Mangrum in pre-tournament dope, had considerable putter trouble as he finished with a 38-37—75.

Jake LaMotta Agrees To Fight Belloise

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (INS)—Middleweight Champion Jake La Motta agreed today to meet Steve Belloise in an over-the-weight match at Madison Square Garden Nov. 11 if Belloise defeats Ray Robinson at Yankee Stadium next Wednesday night.

La Motta defends his crown at the Polo Grounds the night of Sept. 28 against Marcel Cerdan, who will arrive in New York from France tomorrow afternoon.

Catcher Is Injured

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP) — Eddie Malone, Chicago White Sox catcher was removed from the Detroit game in the first inning here today with an inch long cut behind his left ear. Malone suffered the cut when he was hit by flying bat as George Kell Detroit third baseman, grounded out.

Joe Tipton replaced Malone in the White Sox lineup.

Phillies Annex Third Straight From Brooklyn

Five Tallies In 6th Sink Dodgers, 9 To 5

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (INS) — The Philadelphia Phillies made it three in a row over the Brooklyn Dodgers today when they beat the Shottonmen, 9 to 5, and dropped them to a full game off the National League pace.

The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals were not scheduled and gained a half-game with Brooklyn's loss.

A five-run outburst in the sixth inning gave the Phils the game. They bashed starter Rex Barney and Carl Erskine for three doubles and two homers during this frame. Del Ennis hit his 18th with one on and Willie Jones also hit one with a mate aboard.

Bruce Edwards and Gil Hodges hit round-trippers for the Brooks.

Hank Borowy won his 12th game of the year. Box:

Walsh Wins For Bucs

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18 (INS) — The Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 0, today for recruit righthander Jim Walsh's first win of the season.

Walsh, who was brought up from Indianapolis last week, issued only three hits. The Pirates collected nine safeties off loser Doyle Lade.

Braves Trim Giants

BOSTON, Aug. 18 (INS)—Boston won its second straight game from the New York Giants today as they belted the Durochermen 10 to 6 and moved to within a half-game of the third place New Yorkers.

The Braves smashed out four home runs to give Johnny Sain a comfortable lead. Although the big righthander needed assistance from Bill Voiselle in the eighth, he recorded his ninth win of the season.

Bob Elliott and Jeff Heath hit successive homers off Giant starter Larry Jansen in the second. Elbie Fletcher tagged Jansen for a two-run blast.

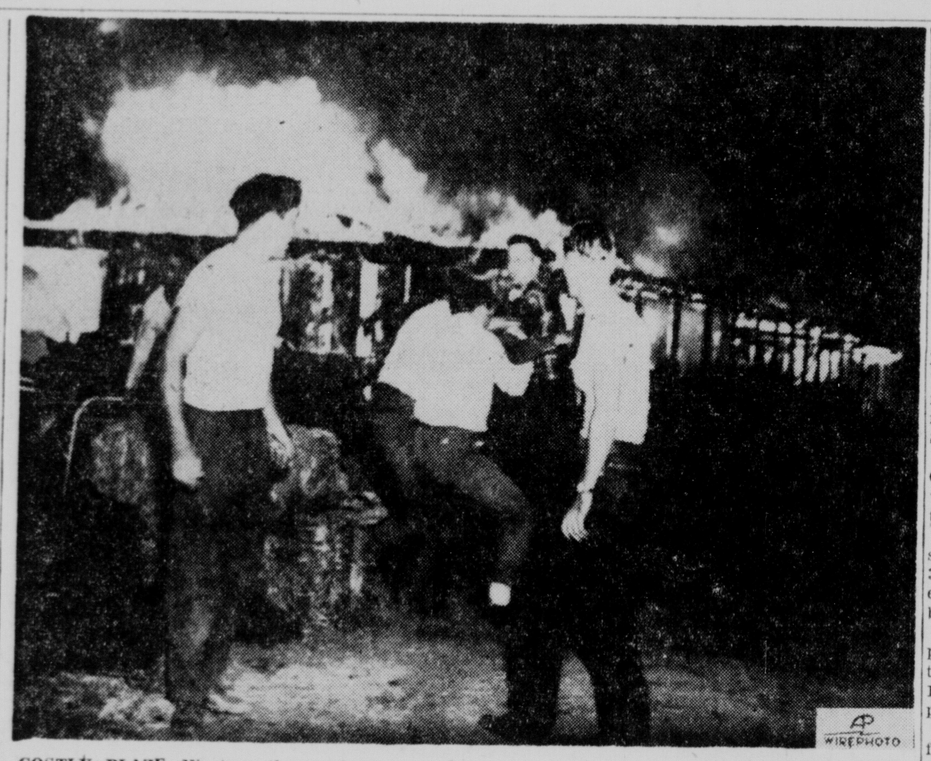

Boston continued its attack against four other Giant hurlers. Jim Russell hit a four-master off Hank Behrman in the sixth. Box:

Potomac Valley's Cubs squared their season series with Wellersburg at three-all by defeating the Pennsylvanians on their home field yesterday by the score of 6-4 in a County Softball League contest.

Trailing 4-1, the Cubs put on a garrison finish in the final frame and scored five runs to pull the game out of the fire. Paul Kemp was the hero. He belted a homer with two aboard to give the Cubs a 5-4 lead. Don Lease also hit for the circuit and added two singles. The victory was Hayden Phillips' 24th of the season. Baker obtained two of Wellersburg's nine hits.

Allegany Grove stayed right on the heels of the front-running cubs by defeating Narrows Park, 4 to 2, behind Claget McAlister who notched his 10th victory of the season. McAlister had pitched 28 scoreless innings until he was nicked for a tally in the third by the Park.

Milton Wertz and McAlister led the Grovers at the plate with a double and single each. Raupach collected two of the Park's safeties.

Corriganville took Stringtown into camp at Corriganville, 4-3. Leo Fleegle of the winners was the only player to obtain two hits. Kline of Corriganville and Clark of Stringtown rapped two-base hits. Scores:

Wheeling Takes Regional Title

Tops Washington 7-3 In Legion Tourney

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 18 (AP) — Wheeling enjoyed three big innings and capitalized on its eight hits to beat Washington 7-3 today and win the Region 3 American Legion junior baseball title.

With the title went the right to go to Trenton, N. J., for a try at the sectional honors and an ultimate stab at the National championship.

Wheeling, which worked its way into a favored spot by surviving the two-game elimination tournament until losing to Washington yesterday, got off to a two-run start in the first inning of the title game.

Washington tied it up in its turn at bat in the second inning, but could score no more until a feeble ninth-inning rally accounted for one more tally.

The West Virginians put the game on ice with three runs in the seventh, and added two more in the eighth. Score:

The Shaughnessy playoffs in the Rocking Chair Softball League will get under way Monday with the Outdoor Club, penant winners, opposing the Fraternal Order of Eagles, at Stitcher Field at 6 p. m.

Arthur Brant, president of the league, announced last night that the second game of this series will be staged Wednesday at Fort Hill Field and the third game, if necessary, will be held on the same filed Friday.

The best-of-three series between the B. P. O. Elks and Knights of Columbus will be held on Tuesday at Fort Hill. The second and third game, if necessary, will be staged there Thursday and Monday, August 29. If both series are cleaned up next week the finals get underway of the following Monday. If not, the finals will start on Wednesday, August 31. Umpires for the playoffs will be assigned by Robert "Spike" Herboldsheimer,, umpire-in-chief.

Jim Wilkinson earned a 4-3 decision over Frank Zahradka as the Elks defeated the Goodfellowship Club yesterday and finished the season in second place. The Elks scored the winning run in the 8th when "Tag" Reel singled, moved to second on Bruce Mackey's sacrifice and scored on Dick Wilkinson's base wallop.

The Knights of Columbus dropped from a second place tie with the Elks into fourth place by losing to the Outdoor Club in nine innings, 10-7. Jim Diehl scored win No. 13 for the league leaders and drove in the winning run after Van Johnson had singled and went to second on a error. Mullin then tripled to right and scored on a wild throw to the plate. Hahn hit a homer and single and Johnson and Mullin had two hits each for the O. D. C. Snider had three hits and two walks for the K. of C.

Don Knieriem yielded five hits, fanned five and bagged his 17th win of the season as the Eagles topped the Moose, 9-1, and clinched third place. Aman tripled and singled, Weaver banged a three bagger and Boyer, Neus and Weimer had two hits each for F. O. E. Shaffer hit safely twice for the Moose.

The Amvets slipped out of last place on the final day by winning a doubleheader from Potomac Edison, 7-2 and5-2. Both games were limited to five innings. Ralph Twigg homered for the Amvets in the nightcap. A running catch by Roy, P. E. short fielder, was the fielding gem. Scores:

New York Yanks Increase Lead To Four Games

Hand Senators 8th Straight Loss, 5-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—The New York Yankees edged out the Washington Senators, 5-4, today to increase their American League margin over the idle Boston Red Sox to four full games.

Phil Rizzuto's double followed by Cliff Mapes' single produced the winning run off Mickey Harris in the sixth inning.

It was the Senators' eighth straight loss, their 31st in the last 35 games. Also it was Harris' seventh straight defeat since he was bought from the Red Sox.

Allie Reynolds, third Yankee pitcher, was credited with the victory, his 12th against three defeats. He took over in the fifth and pitched five hitless innings.

Each side got four runs in the fourth inning. Clyde Vollmer opened the Senators' scoring with his 13th homer. The blow gave him the distinction of hitting at least one round tripper in every park in the league.

The game was held up 55 minutes by rain after the Washington half of the sixth. Box:

Tigers Whip Chisox

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP)—The fifth place Detroit Tigers blanked the Chicago White Sox today, 2-0, to gain an even break in their two game series.

Freddie Hutchinson, with ninth inning assistance from Virgil Trucks, held the White Sox to six hits in notching his No. 12 win. He has won the last seven in a row.

The Tigers used two unearned runs, one in the first and another in the third, to close out a 19-inning scoring famine. Billy Pierce, who pitched eight innings on a yield of three hits, was the victim of these two spurts in suffering his twelfth setback. Box:

U. S. Amateurs Seek 11th Win In Golf Series

Walker Cup Matches Will Start Today

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Aug. 18 (INS) — The flower of Britain's amateur golfdom seeks tomorrow and Saturday to relieve the United States of the Walker Cup, a trophy which has become as American as the Grand Canyon, and just as difficult to remove.

Possession, in this instance, is not nine tenths of the law. It is ten elevenths, the U. S. having won the biennial match ten times in the eleven played. The locals are favored this time too.

Things, though, may be reforming themselves in Britain's favor. The soldiers of the king won the cup in 1938; next time the matches were held, two years ago, they warred into the final-day afternoon before losing it.

Champ Leads Britons

And tomorrow, at the Winged Foot Club in Mamaroneck, the Britons head into battle a powerful, youthful bunch led by the giant Irishman, Sam McCready. He is the British amateur champion who socked away America's two finest simon-pures, Frank Stranahan and Willie Turnesa, in successive rounds while en route to his title little over a month ago.

McCready teams up with Jim Bruen, a first-time Walker Cup campaigner, against Stranahan and the 36-year-old Detroiter Charlie Kocsis in what may be the big show of tomorrow's four "scotch foursome" matches.

Turnesa and Ray Billows, the man he defeated for the U. S. amateur crown a year ago, combine against two veterans of the last cup matches, Ronnie White and Joe Carr, in the leadoff match at nine a. m. (EDT).

Following that and the meeting of the McCready-Stranahan forces Ted Bishop and Skee Riegel of the U. S. oppose Cecil Ewing and Gerald Micklem of Britain; and the old men of the American team, Johnny Dawson (46) and Bruce McCormick (40) take on Kenneth Thom and Arthur Perowne.

These pairings were decided today by Francis Ouimet, non-playing captain of the Americans and a gentleman wholly synonymous with Walker Cup goings-on, and Laddie Lucas, lefthanded playing captain of the Britons. Lucas is holding himself and Ernie Millward in reserve, while Jimmy McHale and Charlie Coe are the reserve statesiders, and may see action in Saturday's singles.

The foursome play, in which each team plays one ball alternately, is set at 36 holes per match with one point for each victory. A match all square at the end of 36 becomes a half, but not a half point. No points are awarded in any direction for an even finish.

Eight Matches Saturday

Saturday, eight singles matches, all at 36 holes and probably to be highlighted by a meeting between McCready and Turnesa, will complete the cup action. The United States won the 1947 business at St. Andrews, Scotland, 8 to 4.

Hyndman Clinches 4th Place In Midget Loop

Hyndman clinched a fourth place playoff spot in the Midget League by defeating Cunningham's yesterday at Community Park by the score of 6-4.

Buskirk, Hyndman pitcher, yielded six hits while Leydig, third sacker, led the winners' nine-hit attack with three safeties and Sager garnered a pair of singles. Wilson pounded a double and single for Cunningham's.

Joe's finished in first place, Beightol's Bouncers were second and Keegan's third. Yesterday's score:

HYNDMAN ..... 231 000 0—6 9 1
CUNNINGHAM'S ..... 000 400 0—4 6 2
Buskirk and Shaffer. Cunningham, Connelly (5) and Bailey.

Brick Splashes To 4th Victory

Defeats Reveille By Two Lengths

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—Greentree Stable's Brick splashed his way to his fourth victory of the season when he vanquished four other 3-year-olds in the Campfire Purse, best race of the stakesless card here this afternoon.

Running in going fet-lock deep in slop, the son of St. Germans scored by two lengths over George D. Widener's Reveille, with Mrs. Gerald Smith' Near Thing two more spans away in third. Woodvale Farm's Halt, evidently anchored under 123 pounds, was a dull fourth, while Wm. Goadby Loew's Khaki finished last. Noble Impulse was withdrawn because of the goo.

Ted Atkinson rated brick superbly in third position the first half-mile, moved to the front thereafter and kept the colt at his task to the end of the mile trip, covered in 140 1-5. Brick paid $6.50 straight.

Easy Chance Scores

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 18—Mike Belasco's Easy Chance registered an upset victory in today's Elwood Purse before some 16,000 fans.

Showers during the early races made the track "good" for the best event and Easy Chance was clocked in 1.53 4-5 to score by two lengths over the favored all in fun from the Grandview Stables.

The pair dominated the one mile and one-eighth route with Golden Shoe Farm's Rogue earning the show award six lengths father back.

Although Easy Chance was a three-time winner during the Monmouth Park session he was permitted to go forward at $20.00 for $2. The victory was the first of the meeting for Jockey Herb Claggett.

HORSE LEADS AUTO—Horsemen of Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion escort King Abdullah, who rides in the car behind, during Army Day at Amman, celebrating the nation's independence.

ZOO 'TEA PARTY' — Sally holds her mug for more milk as the chimpanzees in the London Zoo hold their Spring "tea party." In rear is Compo, Susan is in front and So-So at right.

RUM IN THE RAW — A thousand tons of sugar cane wait to be ground and assayed at one of Puerto Rico's "Centrales" in Rio Piedras. The pile will produce 6,000 gallons of rum.

YOUNG FERRYMAN — Hans van Steenhoven, 13, shows how he spends his Sundays shuttling back and forth across the Great Canal at Delft, Holland. His fee is a quarter-cent a ride.

BEACH 'ORCHID —Irmgard Stroessinger, 24, "Miss Darmstadt of 1949," displays the "Orchid," a two-piece bathing suit, at a beachwear fashion show in Frankfurt, Germany.

EMERGENCY IN HAMBURG — A man and boy test equipment of new kiosks in Hamburg, Germany, which contain stretchers, first aid kits, fire alarms, phones, clocks, mirrors.

OWNER-MODEL —Joan Bennett shows her new evening gown of white brocade with silver hand embroidery, pink ribbons and roses, at Fontana Fashion House, Rome, Italy.

TENTING ON AUTO TOP — Homer Carley, Jr., (on ladder) and Robert O. Bickel, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., designed this car top sleeper containing 3 mattresses and electric lights.

WRENS GO TO SEA AGAIN — Capt. C. L. A. Woolard inspects ex-members of the Women's Royal Naval Service, starting a two-week cruise on "English Rose" at Weymouth, England.

AUER READS NEWS —Mischa Auer, motion picture comedian, catches up with his reading in his hotel room at Rome, Italy, where he is preparing to appear in a new film.

'GUSSIE' SMILES —Gertrude ("Gorgeous Gussie") Moran, American tennis player, smiles as she walks in Park Lane following her arrival in London for the Wimbledon matches.

ROYAL APPLAUSE — Queen Frederika of Greece, and her children (l. to r.) Prince Constantine and Princesses Sophia and Irene, applaud a play at YMCA, Athens, for refugee children.

PAINTER-CARVER — Milton J. Felsen, of Burbank, Cal., models a wood carving after his water color in background.

QUADS IN PAIRS — Quadruplets of two British families win attention at a vacation camp in North Wales. Held by their parents, the children are, left to right: Annette, Robert, Paul and Kevin Taylor; and Bridget, Francis, Jennifer and Elizabeth Good.

WAGON BUILDER — Lee Ward, of Eagle Rock, Cal., shows horses and vehicles he carved since retiring from ranching.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife and our mother, Mrs. Carrie B. Hough, who departed this life one year ago, August 18, 1948.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in the land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.

And we who have known and loved her,
Whose passing has brought sad tears,
Will cherish her memory always,
To brighten the passing years.

Keep her dear Lord, till we reach the shore,
Then let us have her to love once more.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Raymond Hough and children.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, Clarence V. McKenzie. We especially wish to thank Rev. Fr. Charles Bogan of St. Mary's Church, Lonaconing, those who sent flowers, mass cards and donated the use of their automobiles.

The McKenzie family,
Lonaconing, Md.

Effort To Extend Advance Falls Short In Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP) — A moderately strong effort to extend the current advance fell short today in the stock market, and only a small net gains were held.

Hesitancy was ascribed in part to many awaiting a report of the New York Stock Exchange on the short position of traders issued after the close of the market.

It showed as of August 15 a short interest of 2,006,119 shares, as compared with 1,844,313 shares the month before, and the highest since September 9, 1932, when shorts held 2,042,222 shares.

A short is a trader who has borrowed stock and sold it in the expectation of being able to buy it back later at a lower price. In other words, shorts expect the market to fall.

Steels and motors were out in front with the rails and utilities lagging behind. All four groups ended considerably mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained .1 of a point at 65.3 with the industrial component adding .2 of a point and the rails and utilities remaining unchanged.

The volume of trading was 1,180,000 shares as against 1,410,000 shares Wednesday. At the same time the market broadened out to include 1,032 individual issues compared with 1,004 Wednesday. Of the total traded, 521 advanced and 245 declined. There were 107 new highs attained on the upswing and only five new lows were reached.

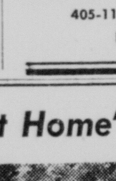

Fractional gains were made by General Motors 62⅜, United States Steel 23¼, Nickel Plate 74½, American Telephone 146⅛, National City Lines 8⅝ (on an increased dividend), General Public Utilities 15, American Smelting 48¾, Goodyear 40¾, Sears Roebuck 42, Sinclair Oil 22⅝, Socony Vaccum 16, Gulf Oil up one at 69½, Douglas 59¾, Radio Corporation 11, Coca Cola up 5 at 146 (on a few sales), Certain-Teed 12¼, and du Pont 52⅜.

Lower were Great Western Sugar off 1⅜ at 17¼ (on a decreased dividend), Studebaker 23¼, United States Rubber 33⅜, Woolworth 49, Lockheed 19, United Gas Corporation 17, Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred 31, and Pennsylvania Railroad 15.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can "mixed feelings" make you feel blue?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. W. Clifford M. Scott in the British Medical Journal. Our tendency to feel normally or pathologically "depressed" begins with the realization "that at one and the same time it is possible for a person to love and hate, and . . . that such love and hate can be felt for one and the same person." From this standpoint, we feel blue or depressed because as a result of our inner conflicts, no matter which side of ourselves we are gratifying at a given time, the other, repressed side is starved and frustrated.

Are real unfortunates most prone to self-pity?

Answer: Usually not. The mother who feels "neglected" by her grown-up childen mainly because she no longer holds first place in their lives and affections may feel more "abused" than her neighbor who is crippled by incurable disease. For how sorry we are for ourselves depends primarily on how much we feel we "have a right to." If you've always had things pretty much your own way, the least disappointment may seem an unbearable "injustice." Self-pity is basically a "spoiled-child" reaction which a mature person won't give way to.

Is "living by the clock" neurotic?

Answer: That depends on whether your adherence to a schedule is a matter of convenience, or is a "compulsion" you can violate only at the cost of being thrown into a panic. In the mind of the neurotic, a fixed routine means that "everything is under control" and he can feel sure he will not give way to the secret and forbidden impulses he is unconsciously afraid of. If each moment and act of your day is planned in advance you avoid the risk of having to make hasty decisions or of doing something "without thinking" which you'd be ashamed of.

Parmenter Urges "United Front" Against Reds

Purple Heart Plans Co-Ordinating Body

A "united front" against communism is the surest method of defeating it in America, Clifford A. Parmenter, Long Beach, Cal., national commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, said in a statement last night.

The Purple Heart, currently holding its national convention in Cumberland, is campaigning for money and support for a national co-ordinating agency of all anti-communist groups, Parmenter declared.

He added that the number of anti-Red organizations is steadily increasing. The organizations, he said, "are losing their effectiveness because there is no co-ordinating body."

Not Getting Results

"We are not getting such good results for our money as the communists have for the estimated $38,000,000 dollars they have spent in America in the last 10 years or so."

To make the campaign against Communism more effective, Parmenter declared, some sort of co-ordinating group is necessary. Under the Purple Heart program, he explained, the battle has a two-fold purpose:

First, to fight the existing communist infiltration in the United States.

Second, and more important, he said, is to educate the American public on the aims of communism and the means at hand of combatting it.

He explained that American children should be given a better understanding of their country's history and of the opportunities America offers.

The Purple Heart, he said, is now trying to raise money to assume control of the records of the Better American Federation, which are considered the most complete files in existence on subversive activities in the United States.

Basis For Operations

The records, he said, would furnish a basis for operations of the co-ordinating committee. The committee would co-operate with government agencies in cracking subversive rings.

Several professional intelligence men, he suggested, could be lent by the government to investigate leads furnished by the co-ordinating agency.

He explained the Federal Bureau of Investigation has insufficient men to track down communists and still handle crime cases.

Most of the anti-subversive agencies, he declared, are amateur groups, while the communists in the U. S. represent a highly-trained group.

"The only way we can completely lick the Reds," he asserted, "is to make Democracy work so well nobody will want to try communism."

Local 26 Will Elect Chairmen

The election of two division and two department chairmen and a report on the opening of the union's drive for a 25-cent wage increase are slated at a meeting of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the union hall.

The opening meeting on the wage discussions was held yesterday at 10 a.m. at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

John M. Jankey, president, Ralph C. Beard and Daniel Ford led the union discussions.

Chairmen will be elected for Division 2, which comprises the tube room, accessories, flaps and trucks, and Division 4, cafeteria, stock preparation, bead manufacture, warehouse, shipping and salvage.

Chairmen will be named for Department 56 and 62-A.

Jankey said it is important that all members be present since there is other important business to transact.

Local 26 yesterday issued an invitation to all of its members and their families to participate in the Labor Day celebration which will be held September 5 at Crystal Park under the sponsorship of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference.

He said the all-day event at the park will open with a picnic at noon and conclude with a dance after a full afternoon of games, entertainment and refreshments.

Firestone Wage Talks Still Preliminary

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18 (AP)—Negotiations between the CIO United Rubber Workers and Firestone Tire and Rubber Company passed their third day today still in what a spokesman described as "the preliminary, exploratory stage."

Only the wage provision of the company-wide contract which runs until next March 1 is under discussion. The union is asked 25-cent hourly pay boosts and $100-a-month health, welfare and pension benefits for about 20,000 workers currently employed in Firestone plants in eight cities.

Fourteen company and 18 union negotiators are participating from Firestone plants in Akron; Los Angeles; Noblesville and Newcastle, Ind.; Memphis; Fall River, Mass.; Pottstown, Pa.; and Des Moines.

Purple Hearters And Top Bands Will Strut Here Tonight

Groups To Meet For Parade Tonight

Two local organizations have issued orders for the meeting of members to take part in the Purple Heart parade tonight.

Members of Henry Hart Unit 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, will meet at 6:30 p. m. at the VFW Homes.

The Navy Mothers will gather at the corner of Laing and Pennsylvania Avenues at 7 p. m.

Two top service bands will be included in the 11 musical organizations leading divisions in the Miltary Order of the Purple Heart convention parade to be held here tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Hailed as the greatest parade to be held here in many years, over 40 organizations have indicated they will participate and several groups called last night to inform officials they intended to be present for the patriotic demonstration.

The parade will mark the first in many years to include elaborate floats which have been prepared for the occasion.

Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., parade marshal, said the organizations will assemble in South Cumberland at 7 p. m. so they will be ready to march off promptly at 7:30 p. m.

The two-mile route will be from Laing Avenue to Virginia Avenue, to Maryland Avenue, to Williams Street, to Park Street, to Baltimore Street, to Centre Street, to the viaduct, to Mechanic Street, to Baltimore Street, to South Liberty Street and down South Liberty Street to theMaryland State Armory to disband.

Includes Top Bands

Leading the First Division will be the famous United States Marine Band, followed by Company D, Fifth Marine Battalion, which will form on Laing Avenue.

The Second Army Band will lead the Second Division which forms on Laing Avenue. Following the band will be the Purple Heart division and the Purple Heart float.

The Third Division, with John R. Kelly as aide, will be led by the Earl Opel Post, American Legion Band, of Salisbury, Pa.; American Legion Post 459; Disabled American Veterans, Fort Washington Chapter No. 2, and Fort Washington Chapter No. 2 Auxiliary Unit.

The Fourth Division, of which M. Sgt. Clarence Biehn is aide, will lead off with the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of Berlin, Pa.; the Veterans of Foreign Wars post of Berlin, Pa. and the American Legion post of Berlin. The division will form on Laing Avenue.

"Sad Sacks" To March

The Fifth Division, Victor Shaffer, aide, forms on Laing Avenue and is led by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum and Bugle Corps of Carmichael, Pa. The Navy Mothers Club and the Alvin C. Neat Post "Sad Sacks" will complete the division.

The Sixth Division, led by Lloyd McNeill, aide, will include the Charles E. Kelly Post, American Legion Drum Corps of Meyersdale, Pa.; Knobley Mountain Post No. 138, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., and J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets.

The Seventh Division will form on Fifth Street with Wesley Abrams as aide. The division will include Loyal Order of Moose Drum and Bugle Corps of Hagerstown; Wahaba Temple No. 237, DOKK Patrol; the Cumberland Exchange Club float and the South End Merchants float.

The Eighth Division forms on Fifth Street with Thomas R. Farrell as aide. The Fort Hill High School Band will lead, followed by the Fort Ashby Lions Club and float;

American Way Still Challenged, Parmenter Says

Purple Heart Head Dedicates Memorial

"The challenge to the American way of life is still with us after four years of peace," Clifford A. Parmenter, national comander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart said yesterday afternoon at the dedication of a memorial to World War II dead.

"The 350,000 men who died in World War II were called to fight for the Four Freedoms. The end of the battle still is not in sight," he declared.

Parmenter asserted that "the 850,000 combat wounded men who won the Purple Heart have committed themselves to the service of the widows and orphans" left by the men who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Parmenter was principal speaker at a ceremony at 1:30 p. m. yesterday in connection with dedication of a monument to employes of the local Celanese plant who lost their lives in World War II.

Rev. Michael A. Halley, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., past national chaplain of the order, opened the service with an invocation.

Givens Expresses Welcome

H. C. Givens, Celanese plant manager, welcomed the Order and expressed appreciation that 100 delegates had taken time out from their national convention in Cumberland to dedicate the memorial.

Parmenter presented a wreath to Givens and gave his address and Rev. Halley asked the benediction. Mrs. Beatrice Donovan, Baltimore, national president if the Purple Heart Auxiliary, also attended the service.

The dedication followed a business session at the Elks Home yesterday morning in which Parmenter reported the organization has paid off indebtedness of $93,000 since he took office 12 months ago. Enough reserve funds are left to operate until the 1950 dues come in, he declared.

Parmenter said the Purple Heart was thrown into receivership several

Collection Day TODAY

Three Education Meetings Set For School Opening

Dr. Paul R. Mort To Speak Sept. 10

The first bell for Allegany County's public school system's 1949-1950 term was sounded yesterday when Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, announced two pre-opening meetings and a general caucus for September 10.

Actual class work will be resumed at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, September 7, with the pre-school meeting set for September 2 and September 6. The first is for elementary principals and the latter for all principals.

The general session which is for all educators of the county will begin at 10 a. m. September 10 in Allegany High School auditorium. Dr. Paul R. Mort, professor of education at Columbia University's Teacher's College, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Kopp in announcing Dr. Mort's acceptance of an invitation to speak here said he is one of the most dynamic and inspiring leaders of education in the United States.

Classes will be conducted on a half-day basis on September 7, 8 and 9, Dr. Kopp declared, beginning at 9 a. m. and ending at 12 noon. This, he explained, is to permit the instructors to complete administrative work.

During the three meetings of educators, Dr. Kopp said the whole range of educational responsibility will be discussed along with plans for the year immediately ahead.

Subjects of particular interest that will be presented at the three sessions are disciplines or control; school morale among teachers and pupils; standards for the evaluation of achievement through a common understanding of what constitutes a valid marking system.

Standards of attainment to be expected both in the scholastic area and in the social and personal behavior area as well as school attendance and appearnce of the students.

In letter forwarded to school principals, Dr. Kopp said regulations referring to the age requirements for beginning children will be strictly enforced. The limitation requires

Delegate From Fort Pitt Arrives

Charles R. Logan, senior vice commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, and commander of the Eighty-third Division, A.E.F., Veterans Association of Ohio, will represent Fort Pitt Chapter No. 9, Pittsburgh, at the national convention now in progress here.

Logan will cast the chapter ballot in the absence of Commander Harry Slankin. He has been associated with veterans' organizations for over 30 years.

11 Auxiliary Units Formed In Past Year

Purple Heart Officers Report

With the announcement that 11 new units have been formed in the past year, Mrs. Beatrice Donovan, national president, opened the officers' reports at the Ladies Auxiliary of the Military Order of Purple Heart convention yesterday.

The new units brought the total up to 128, she pointed out, with membership raised from 4,000 to 4,500.

One new department, the Department of Missouri, has also been formed under Mrs. Donovan's administration as president.

Reports were then given by Mrs. Meta Ihbe, Milwaukee, Wis., national senior vice president; and by six of the eight auxiliary zone junior vice presidents.

Mrs. Mae O'Brien, Chicago, national chaplain, reported that 30 members have died within the past year. Mrs. Donovan will place a Purple Heart Viola on a cross for each of them during memorial services Saturday in Constitution Park.

Trophies Donated

It was announced that for the first time, two trophies will be awarded to units giving the most effort toward hospital work. They were donated by Mrs. Mabel Patton, Los Angeles, first president of the Auxiliary.

A committee headed by Mrs. Anna Snyder, Lancaster, Pa., national hospital chairman, met last night to decide upon the winning groups.

Trophy winners along with those winning unit and membership citations will be announced at this morning's meeting.

Members of the national president's staff of officers presented her with a bouquet and a gavel made of the same redwood with which Revolutionary War caissons were constructed. Mrs. Eleanor Dreblow,

"How I Won My Purple Heart" Stories Few At Parley

BY PAT FULLERTON
News Staff Writer

Old soldiers may never die, but their talk about World War I battles is fading away.

Why?

Three veterans of World War 1 and a young Minneapolis lawyer who fought in the last war sat down to talk it over today.

They are attending the national convention of the Military Order of the Purple Heart in progress here. All had to get wounded in action to become eligible for membership.

Adolph Sutro, 57-year-old retired mining engineer from Hollywood, Calif., started the conversational ball rolling after a committee meeting.

Someone asked him if he had heard any reminiscences on "How I got my Purmple Heart" at the convention.

"Some," he replied, "but most of it came from the youngsters who were in the last one."

Herman J. Ratelle, 27, who lost a leg near Oberhoffen, France, on February 1 1945, thought he had the answer.

"You fellows who were in the first World War," he said, "went over without too much training. Most of us in the last one had a year or two in the United States learning to be soldiers before we saw any fighting.

"By that time, we thought as soldiers — still thing as trained soldiers. Maybe we have more in common."

Lloyd E. Henry, 54, of Hyattsville, another of the "old timers," chimed in with this explanation:

"World War I was fought on a comparatively limited front.

"There was more of the over the top and hand-to-hand type of of fighting. And you don't feel like discussing that as much as you would the more impersonal type of war the younger generation won."

The other veteran in the gab-fest was Edwin Van Manen of New Orleans. He agreed with the others that when more veterans of the last war join the Order of the Purple Heart, more war stories will be swapped at conventions.

The consensus was that right now the younger veterans are settling down, getting their families started and trying to make places for themselves in the business and professional worlds.

Not too many of them have the time to attend conventions.

Despite their reluctance to talk about themselves, questioning brought out these reminiscenses on "How I got my Purple Heart."

Van Manen: "I got too much of a whiff of phosgene gas near Rouresches, France, while with the Second Marines. After the war, a Louisiana veterans service office bet me that getting gassed did not make me eligible for a Purple Heart. I applied, got one, and won the bet."

Sutro: 'I was in the 26th Infantry of the First Division. Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., was my major. His brothers, Archie and Kermit, were in the same outfit.

"We were in the trenches at St. Michelle, and Archie was hit. Major Roosevelt got mad, and stood up on the parapet and started to cuss out the Germans for hitting his brother. I was one of those who jumped up to pull him back out of sight, and I got a slight wound."

Ratelle: "I was a tank gunner in the 14th Armored Division near Oberhoffer, France.

"We got mixed up with a German Tiger Tank and took a shell straight through the front of ours.

City Budget Set; Will Be Passed Monday

Hotel Operators Oppose Tax

Members of the Mayor and Council last night agreed on terms of the proposed budget for the city's 1949-50 fiscal year and said the budget will be passed at Monday's regular meeting.

The budget, submitted Monday night by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, calls for appropriations of $1,274,630, the largest budget in the city's history. The tax rate will be $1.25 per hundred dollars of assessable property, the same as last year's.

Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan, who previously had demanded four more policemen than provided for in the budget, assented to terms of the budget after Gibson pointed out he can transfer funds from one department to another if more patrolmen are needed.

Under the city charter, Gibson declared, funds can be transferred from one department to another after January 1 of the year following the setting of appropriations.

Could "Borrow" Funds

Therefore, he explained, Keegan could "borrow" funds from the Fire Department to hire additional patrolmen, if he found it necessary.

Keegan previously had demanded addition of eight men to the Police Department, while other members of the Council declared it would be impossible to provide funds with which to pay them.

Council members agreed to leave the matter to Keegan's discretion and said they will not go on record recommending any number of policemen or firemen.

Meanwhile, the city is still looking for additional sources of revenue.

Immediately before last night's budget meeting the Council conferred with seven local hotel operators concerning a proposed ordinance to impose a tax on hotel rooms.

One hotel man declared hotel owners feel the tax might drive away visitors, who, he asserted, "bring new dollars into the town."

Jack Towler, manager of the Allegany Inn and principal spokesman for the hotel men, said taxes, maintenance and insurance already take 95 cents of every dollar a hotel takes in.

He added that the average convention attender spends $85 in a three-day stay in a city. To discourage these visitors with a tax, he said, would not only cause the city to lose money that would have been spent here, but would earn the city a bad reputation.

Reached Tax Limit

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz told Towler the city has reached its tax limit of 90 cents per hundred dollars of property for operating expenses.

He declared the Council has considered the tax as a means of adding to the city's revenue as "painlessly" as possible. He added that "it is highly probable" that the city has found another possible source of income, but declined to discuss the other source.

(The Mayor and Council Monday night discussed a plan to increase the bingo tax from five to ten cents, adding about $6,000 annually to the city income.)

Members of the Council agreed to delay further action on the hotel tax pending a further investigation of the other source of revenue.

Another conference will be held, they said, in the event the Council decides to consider the hotel tax further.

House Committee Agrees On Flood, Savage Dam Fund

Appropriations for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project and completion of Savage River Dam received approval of the House Appropriations Committee, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) said yesterday.

The huge Waterways Bill which contains appropriations for a number of river and harbor projects throughout the nation, has been delayed by a deadlock of the House group with the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The approved local figure would allot $744,100 for the flood project and $1,265,000 for the dam.

Hoey Sets Rules For Playground Associations

Groups Must Comply To Be Recognized

Cumberland playground associations will have to comply with requirements listed by the recreation department before being recognized next year, Edmund F. Hoey, recreation director, told the City Playgrounds Association at a meeting last night at City Hall.

Every association, Hoey declared, must have a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer and two delegates to the Playgrounds Association.

No association, he said, will be recognized or allowed to raise funds unless the rule is observed.

Meetings should be held at least six times a year and a financial report must be submitted at each meeting, he declared. Permits to hold any money-raising event, such as festivals, must be secured from the superintendent of public recreation at City Hall at least a week before the event is scheduled to be held.

This must be done, he explained, to avoid conflict of festival schedules. Detailed financial statements of receipts, expenditures and the balance or loss at each event must be submitted to the department within two weeks after the event is held, he added.

No games of chance, he asserted, may be used in connection with the use of school grounds, and no commercial advertising of any kind is permitted on any of the playgrounds. Public liability insurance must be carried before any rides are used at a playground.

No equipment can be removed, changed or erected and no trees can be planted or removed without written permission from the department, he declared.

Hoey also said playground supervisors next year will be required to rate their playleaders on several points to determine their abilities.

Two playground associations reported last night they will keep their playgrounds open through September.

Thomas S. Post Association will hire supervisors for three hours each evening Monday through Friday, and Virginia Avenue will use volunteer supervisors from 2 p. m. until dark before school starts, and from 4 p. m. until dark after the school term begins.

Hospitals Treat Injured Cyclists

Local hospitals treated three persons injured while riding motorcycles yesterday.

Gerald Shyrock, 16-year-old son of Lee Shyrock, Route 4, was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 6 p. m. for treatment of a left arm fracture after a cycle mishap near the Nine Mile Inn on Oldtown Road. He was in good condition last night.

A boy and a girl riding tandem on a motorcycle on a side road off the Bedford Road were treated at Allegany Hospital.

Johnnie Cecil, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cecil, Cresaptown, broke his right wrist while swinging on a grape arbor. He was treated at Allegany.

Leo Leasure, 40, of 207 Maryland Avenue, was treated at Memorial for a compound fracture of the right thumb.

Brethren Church To Enlarge Building

The Evangelical United Brethren Church, corner of Race and Fourth Streets, yesterday received a permit at the office of the City Engineer to construct a second story on the church.

Plans for the work call for a brick exterior backed with tile. The new room will be 40 feet long and 60 feet wide. The applicantion listed expected costs at $7,500.

Walter C. Clark applied for the permit.

Howard Couter, 1004 Kentucky Avenue, was given a permit to construct a one-car garage on the rear of his property. The work is expected to cost $500 and calls for concrete block walls.

Fire Extinguished

East Side Fire Company was called to the home of W. C. Smith, 627 Frederick Street, yesterday afternoon after a short circuit developed in the wiring. Firemen reported no damage.

AFL Engineers To Call Strike On Flood Job

Local 37 Protests Discharge Of Man

Robert Jones, business agent of Local 37 Operating Engineers Union, AFL, announced last night that the local will place pickets on the Cumberland Flood Control work this morning.

He added that other AFL unions employed on the job have promised to honor the picket line the union will place on the job today at 7 a. m. in protest over the discharge of one of the members of the union.

The strike, he added, is called to protest the United Foundation Corporation's unfair action in firing Frank Williams, Cumberland, Tuesday afternoon.

The men, he said, are insisting that the man get a fair deal.

Jones said the contractor has refused to take the man back and added that the union has "gone out of its way" to co-operate toward expediting the completion of the first phase of the flood project.

Williams, he said, has been operating pumps and compressors and doing "three men's work."

"We will insist that three men be placed on the job to do the work in accordance to normal work schedules," Jones said.

The Operating Engineers furnishes about eight of the some 40 men now employed on the flood project, he said.

The work stoppage will mark the first major strike on the project for several months.

Philip Scutieri, president of the company, when informed of the strike threat, said he preferred not to comment on the situation until he had an opportunity to confer with Jones.

He said the firm has fired Williams three times before for the same cause and taken him back each time, and the next step was up to the union.

Roving Pickets Halt Ponies Meal

A roadblock that delayed feeding time for ponies at a Barton Coal mining operation run by William Brashear appeared to be the only incident that grew out of a visit by "roving pickets" to the George's Creek mining region yesterday.

Officer Burza Hanlin, Westernport Police Department, said eight carloads of "roving pickets" appeared at diggings in the Tri-Towns area yesterday morning but stopped only briefly. The mines were not working, he explained.

The road-blocking incident was reported by Hanlin who said the pickets halted an unidentified man en route to the mine to feed the ponies. He was permitted to pass after a short time, the policeman reported.

A week ago several carloads of pickets appeared in the Tri-Towns area where some strip mines were operating without regard for United Miner Worker Boss John L. Lewis's order for a three-day work week.

At that time the pickets said they would return yesterday to see if the mines were still operating.

Yesterday the eight cars, bearing Maryland licenses, moved about Westernport for brief period but no violence was reported. A rumor that the pickets had also visited the Kitzmiller area was denied by law enforcement authorities in the area.

Whitworth Named To Bar Committee

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport attorney and chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland General Assembly, has been reappointed to the American Law Institute Committee of the Maryland Bar Association by Frank B. Ober, president.

Whitworth will serve with Judge Morris A. Soper, Baltimore; Roger Howell, Baltimore; J. Cookman Boyd, Jr., Baltimore; Sylvan H. Lauchheimer, Baltimore; Judge Edward S. Delaplaine, Frederick and Layman J. Redden, Denton. G. Kenneth Reiblich, Baltimore, is committee chairman.

Firemen Plan Popularity Contest

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company will sponsor a popularity contest for girls of that area between 16 and 25 years of age. The contest will be held in connection with the annual festival set for September 7, 8 and 9.

Contestants may register at the fire hall Monday night at 7 o'clock, according to Cromwell Zembower, chairman, who said rules of the contest will be announced at that time.

Weather

Up again and down again. One moment the sun shown and the next rain threatened or fell. But, the thermometer was stuck at the 79 mark. The 24-hour 1.84 inch rainfall total had brought the temperature to a 62-degree low the previous night. The late night reading was 69 degrees and today should be sunny and clear for tonight's parade.
